West Monroyan Dies After Car Sinks In Bayou

Probe Is Opened Into Death Of Tom Cole, 44

A West Monroe man drowned while sitting behind the steering wheel of his car after it plunged into D'Arbonne Bayou near West Monroe Friday afternoon, Sheriff Bailey Grant said last night.

He was Tom Cole, 44, 205 Mitchell Lane, West Monroe, whose automobile seemingly was driven into the bayou several yards north of the White's Ferry Road bridge between 1 and 2 p.m. yesterday.

Cole, an electrician who had been missing since Friday afternoon, July 15, was the subject of an investigation launched immediately after his body was removed from the submerged car by West Monroe fireman Louis Sanders.

Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner, said he will hold an inquest Tuesday afternoon.

Joe Strickland, his employer of three weeks, said Cole left his job after being paid Friday, July 15, and had not been seen by him nor relatives since. He said Cole telephoned him Monday morning and said he wasn't feeling well, and that he would be at work Tuesday. But he did not show up.

A missing persons report was made to the sheriff's department Saturday morning. Tuesday, Cole's wife called Strickland to inquire of her husband, and together they went looking for him, to no avail.

Friday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Poland, of 4313 South Grand, were fishing near the White's Ferry bridge when they heard a car roar, then a great splash beyond a clump of bushes.

At first, they thought it was a jeep bringing a boat to the water, but a few moments later Mrs. Poland saw about a foot of the car's top extending above the water's surface. They summoned the police.

1,320 Miles Per Hour Air Force Plans Fast Buildup Of High-Speed Jets

WASHINGTON, July 22—UP—The Air Force, moving ahead to counter Russian airpower strides, announced Friday that it plans to produce a new all-weather jet interceptor fighter.

It also will step up production of another jet fighter which can streak through the skies at twice the speed of sound.

The Air Force, which previously had ordered a 35 per cent speedup in production of B-52 hydrogen bombers, told the House and Senate Appropriations committees no additional funds would be needed for the new jet programs.

The action reflected concern in and out of the Defense Department over improved Russian bombers and jet fighters displayed in recent air shows over Moscow. Foreign observers were impressed particularly by new Red jets and a Soviet version of the ocean-spanning B-52.

Affected by the new airpower buildup will be:

1. An interceptor version of the F-101 Voodoo, a faster-than-sound fighter-plane. The F-101 now is being built as a long-range escort fighter for the Strategic Air Command. Emphasis now shifted to the "more urgently required" interceptor.

2. A new model of the F-104 day fighter which will go into production "sooner than was originally planned" and at a higher monthly rate. The F-104 is said by authoritative quarters to be the first combat plane able to fly double the speed of sound. That would be 1,320 miles an hour at and above 35,000 feet.

Showers Forecast Again For Today

Scattered thundershowers, mostly in the afternoon and evening, are again forecast for both Louisiana and Arkansas today and tomorrow.

Yesterday's rain totaled one inch at Selman field, according to the CAA weather station.

Maximum and minimum temperatures recorded at Selman field yesterday were 86 and 71 degrees.

Official Tests Confirm First Ouachita Oil Well, High Grade Crude, Gas

On official state tests completed yesterday, the Zach Brooks Drilling Co. Golsen No. 1 wildcat, Sec. 19-17-2, was confirmed as Ouachita parish's first commercial oil well.

The well made 47-degree gravity oil at the rate of 166 barrels per day and gas at the rate of 360 MCF (360,000 cubic feet) daily on a 7-64-inch choke with a tubing pressure of 4700 pounds per square inch, according to J. L. Adams, district engineer of the State of Louisiana Department of Conservation.

On an earlier one - hour test, the well produced at the rate of 330 barrels of oil daily on a 12-64-inch choke with a tubing pressure of 4400 pounds per square inch.

The well is producing through open hole from 9687 to 9709 feet, which is presumed to be the top of the Cotton Valley series although the pay zone has not yet been confirmed by geologists. The gas-oil ratio is 2168 to one and basic sediment and water is less than one tenth of one per cent.

Oil from the well is being trucked to the Peazel gasoline plant at Dubach and the gas is going into the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. line nearby, both on a temporary contract basis.

The new wildcat oiler is located 50 feet north and 120 feet east of the southwest corner of Sec. 19-17-2E, about 12 miles southwest of Monroe.

Residents Begin Return To Flooded Homes At El Paso

EL PASO, Tex., July 22 (AP)—About 400 residents returned to their flood-marred homes today as a light drizzle rinsed the El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, areas.

Heavy flood waters were also draining into the muddy Rio Grande.

In Juarez, Mayor Pedro Garcia said hundreds driven from their homes there by Wednesday's flood also were being given shelter. Garcia said an earlier report of 10,000 forced from their homes was "far too high."

However, some of those Juarez residents, Garcia said, had nothing but a heap of melted adobe left for homes.

Gov. Oscar Soto Maynes of Chihuahua arrived in Juarez today to confer with Garcia about relief measures. The homeless were housed in schools, hospitals and municipal buildings as water-softened adobe walls of homes in low areas continued crumbling.

The Juarez flood brought brighter prospects to outlying farmers who were leading draining water into irrigation ditches to flood their parched land.

Meanwhile, air travelers from Villa Ahumada, a prosperous agricultural town 60 miles south of Juarez, said that community "looked like a gigantic lake with rooftops dotting the water like islands." It was flooded by torrential rain pouring off the northern toe of Sierra de Ferro. Detailed word of conditions in the Mexican farm town was unavailable.

Boilermaker Kills Himself After Shooting Officer

FERRIDAY, July 22 (Special)—Albert Sidney Kerr, 71, shot and killed himself here about 11:30 p.m. Thursday after he alarmed a service station attendant by his actions and later shot a policeman in a hand. Kerr's home was given as Mt. Herman, La., near Franklinton.

Ferriday Chief of Police Robert Warren said tonight that Kerr, who was well dressed and carrying about $15 cash, died at 2:30 a.m. Friday in the Concordia General Hospital here. Warren said that Kerr had arrived in Ferriday a few hours before and was carrying a union card that showed him to be a member of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers in Waco, Tex.

The shooting occurred after a service station attendant noticed that Kerr was "acting strangely," fearing his identification and social security papers, and called police. When policeman Hershel Bagby arrived, Kerr pulled a .32 revolver from a paper bag and shot the officer, witnesses said.

Then the gun-wielding Kerr put the gun to his right ear and fired a fatal shot.

Investigation of the incident is continuing tonight. Chief Warren said, and added that Kerr appeared to have had "a lot of family trouble."

According to the police chief, Kerr's nearest relative is a brother living in Waco.

The body was being held in the Comer Funeral Home in Ferriday.

Dynamite Blasts Transformers In Saigon Violence

SAIGON, Saturday, July 23—UP—Unidentified terrorists dynamited five electric transformers early Saturday in the quarter of Saigon where most Americans live, plunging a fifth of the city into darkness.

Machine gun fire chattered in the streets soon after the blasting began at 1:30 a.m., but there was no immediate report of arrests or casualties.

Troops and police were alerted to search for the saboteurs. High-powered cars could be heard speeding through the city to the northern district which appeared to be a focus of the trouble.

The explosions occurred in the "champagne quarter" of western Saigon, where the headquarters of the international armistice commission are located and where most American residents live.

Senate Defeats Attempted Cuts In Foreign Aid

Rally To 'Support Ike' In Last Days Of Big-4 Confab

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Heeding pleas to back up President Eisenhower at Geneva, the Senate today turned down a move to chop 420 million dollars from the $3,205,000,000 foreign aid bill.

This was the first test vote on the bill and involved the biggest proposed cut supported by budget-cutters. The result indicated that the Senate was in a mood to give the President a victory on the big measure.

The vote came on a motion to approve the action of the Senate Appropriations committee last Tuesday in adding the 420 millions for worldwide military assistance.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The Senate tonight passed President Eisenhower's $3,205,000,000 foreign aid bill after beating back all floor efforts to chop down his requests. The final passage vote was 62-22.

Senators supporting cuts, led by Sens. Ellender (D-La.) concentrated their efforts on defeating this motion. They argued particularly that the administration has on hand $4 billion of unspent foreign aid funds, and does not need the full amount it asked for this year.

Ellender argued that many of the recipients of the aid now are enjoying prosperity and yet the United States must continue to go into the red to pay for the big assistance grants.

But Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.), chairman of the Appropriations Committee and floor manager for the bill, called on his colleagues to support the President, particularly with the Big Four parity in its concluding stages.

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), speaking against the cut, said it would be a "colossal blunder" for this country to tell the world it plans to forsake its friends. Denying foreign aid is a give-away program, Dirksen shouted "this is the most selfish program we have. We're doing it to save our own skins."

The vote to support the 420 million dollar restoration means that the Senate decided to give the President the full 1 1/2 billion he asked for military assistance in the bill. The House voted for 705 million, the biggest cut it made.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said that if spending altogether, the government will be able to balance the budget and cut taxes across the board by 5 1/2 per cent.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) told the Senate restoration of the money sent out by the House would be "most beneficial" since it would (Continued On Second Page)

Loose Bed Bolt Fatal For Infant

ALEXANDRIA, La., July 22 (AP)—A loose bolt in a baby's crib allowed a slat to fall today, 11-month-old Kirt Neal Detwiler was caught in the opening and choked to death.

His parents, Lt. and Mrs. Barry M. Detwiler of San Jose, Calif., were asleep in another room. Detwiler is stationed at the England Air Force Base here.

The House bill includes the administration's proposed school bond purchase program. This would authorize a 750-million-dollar assistance fund for use over four years to purchase school building bonds of local districts unable to finance their bond issues at "reasonable" interest rates in the open market.

In selling their construction bonds to the government, local districts would pay interest at a rate no higher than the going rate for government obligations plus three eighths of one per cent. At present this would total three per cent.

To insure against any degree of federal control over education, the bill requires that state educational agencies shall have the final say on all building plans.

New Crossword Puzzle Jackpot Is Untouched By World Fans This Week

By BONANZA BILL

The secrets of the World's crossword puzzle were untouched this week by contestants from throughout the district, and the $50 jackpot got by without a close call.

Next week, on the puzzle to be published in the Monday and Tuesday editions of the World, the jackpot will be boosted to $75, something worth trying for, but still somewhat under the $475 handed out last week for a winning combination of answers.

Take a look at the explanation of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzle and get ready for the next hurdle.

CLUES ACROSS:

1. ACE is preferred. "More than one" does NOT suggest a very great number, but there were COUNTLESS such ACTS during the war. Our fighter ACES were, by comparison, pitifully few.

2. GOAT is best. Find it "there" means "where you left it." A GOAT will hardly be where you left it if you don't tie it up. A BOAT might, of course, if the water is still.

3. MIND is the more comprehensive answer, since it includes (Continued On Second Page)

From word that comes out of Geneva, Swiss caterers are making a fortune out of banquets and luncheons as the Big Four and their associates are given a royal entertainment.

President Eisenhower officiated at a lavish dinner for the Soviet delegation in his villa Monday night. An elaborate meal was served by the best chef in Switzerland and the meal was abundantly washed down with choice wines and other drinks.

Not far behind him was Sir Anthony Eden's dinner, when he and Russian guests discussed the station on all building plans.

However, the crowd-pleasers in last night's preliminary judging were Miss Ceylon, exciting Maureen Hingert; Miss El Salvador, Marilyn Monroe-like Maribel Arrieta; Miss England, voluptuous Margaret Rowe and Miss U.S.A., honey-blond Carlene King Johnson of Vermont.

Almost among those likely to succeed are Miss Japan, Keiko Takashi; Miss Honduras, Pastora Pagan Valenzuela; Miss Belgium, Nicole De Meyer; and Miss Canada, Cathy Diggles.

Incidentally, the girls voted Miss El Salvador as winner of the Miss Friendship Cup. She graciously explained, "They were friendly to me, so I was friendly to them."

The girls themselves annually choose the winner of this award. Others very much in tonight's contest are the Misses Argentina, Brazil, Germany, Guatemala, Norway and Venezuela.

The judges, nine men and singer Ginny Simms, class the girls under three categories: 1. formal gown; 2. bathing suit, and 3. charm, poise and personality.

Livingston Parish Police Jury Rapped By Auditor For Deficit Expenditures

BATON ROUGE, July 22 (AP)—A state audit today found a $17,790.42 deficit in the Livingston Parish Police Jury general fund and said "further deficit financing will place the police jury in most serious financial difficulties."

"During the year, the police jury had an extraordinary number of elections," the audit continued, "the election expenses for the year amounting to $7,026.68 of which only $2,099.25 was reimbursable by the state. However, as has been stated before, it is illegal to incur a deficit."

"It appears that the police jury is in general economizing as much as possible but little improvement can be expected in the general fund until after July 1, 1956, at which time a constitutional amendment giving the parish a portion of the severance tax on forest products becomes effective."

The audit was for the year ending Dec. 31, 1954.

The police jury also was criticized for:

1. Owing back fees of over $1,000 to the sheriff and court clerk for court attendance and transporting prisoners and interdicts dating back to July 1, 1953.

2. Payments for janitorial supplies "far in excess of requirements for maintenance of the courthouse."

3. "The practice of making interfund loans, criticized in our previous report, continued on into the year under review." But the report said the deputy auditor was told the practice had been discontinued and "every possible effort was being made to repay the outstanding loans as soon as possible."

In another audit the Vermillion Parish Police Jury was criticized for continuing to divide road funds proportionately to each ward.

The report contended that under a State Supreme Court ruling "road maintenance funds should be expended under the supervision of the police jury as a whole."

Another audit found a $175 deficit in the Rapides Parish assessor's salary fund and criticized the assessor for paying flat bonuses for extra work instead of keeping records of the overtime hours worked.

The audits were signed by State Auditor Allison Kolb.

Fifteen Finalists Compete For Title Of 'Miss Universe'

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 22 (AP)—Fifteen potential winners of the Miss Universe crown will meet tonight in the world's most glamorous international competition.

So beautiful are all 15 of the lovelies chosen last night as entries in the final pageant that the 10 judges expect to require five hours to choose the queen.

This means that the contest, which starts at 8 p.m., may not finish until about 1 a.m. tomorrow. Most of the girls themselves say that Miss Sweden, statuesque Hillevi Rombin, will be the winner. She is a college-educated blonde who speaks five languages.

Soviet Officials Silent On Issue Of Iron Curtain

By STANLEY JOHNSON
GENEVA, July 22 (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin sat silent throughout today's Big Four session.

With all the world waiting for his reaction to President Eisenhower's proposal for a mutual exchange of military information, Bulganin sat silent.

With Eisenhower launching an appeal for Russia to abolish the Iron Curtain — a statement which previously had always brought a stinging rebuttal from any Soviet spokesman — Bulganin sat silent.

For two days now, the West, and more specifically President Eisenhower, has dominated this conference in a manner which experts would have considered incredible before it opened.

In the opinion of many here, Eisenhower — with diplomatic skill, personal force and adroit use of his military, political and diplomatic prestige — has kept the Russians so off balance that they have become unsure of themselves and uncertain what to say.

Tomorrow is the last day of the conference and there is little time for Bulganin to come back. Many diplomats speculated that the Russian is well aware of this and is saving some spectacular windup announcement for the morrow.

The Russians were so quiet today — not only Bulganin but the rest of his delegation — that press chief Leonid Ilyichev did not even hold a briefing.

One delegation member circulated a report that Russia is unlikely to go along with Eisenhower's proposal for exchange of blueprints of military establishments. His reason was that it makes no provision for abolition of A and H bombs. But, he added, the Soviet delegation does not doubt the sincerity of Eisenhower's plan and feels it might be possible to study it if it were linked with the prohibition of nuclear weapons.

The Russians today were reading Western newspapers, studying public reaction to Eisenhower's suggestion. It was so unanimously favorable from extreme left to extreme right that there is growing interest in just what rabbit Bulganin can pull out of his hat tomorrow to stem the tide.

no inkling of the Russian attitude toward the dramatic arms proposal Eisenhower laid before the Russians yesterday — a proposal hailed by Western commentators variously as "astonishing . . . gratifying . . . somewhat bizarre."

The parley will end tomorrow, if the Americans have their way. That gives the Russians the final day on which to say whether they will agree to trade blueprints of military plans with America, and fly their photographic planes over the United States while American pilots photograph Russia.

So great was the log jam of business that the foreign ministers were unable to complete their report on German unification and security.

The foreign ministers met most of the day, then went into a night session hoping to come up with final recommendations.

These will be taken up at a restricted session of the four heads of government at 11 a.m. — 5 a.m. EST — tomorrow.

In the restricted session, only the chiefs of government, the foreign ministers and two assistants for each group will be present. Normally this permits a more informal exchange of views.

The Russians indicated that Premier Bulganin was prepared to reply, but not a word was said from that side during this afternoon's brief session.

One member of the Russian delegation, however, told a reporter whom he had known for a long time that he thought Eisenhower's proposal might provide the basis for an agreement — if —

The "if" was this: It might provide the basis for agreement, he said, if the plan was linked with the prohibition of nuclear weapons. The Russian doubted that his country would accept the proposal outright.

That was where the situation stood tonight with only a few working hours left in which the Big Four might outline the steps they hope to take to relieve world tension.

Reports from the airport indicated President Eisenhower's plane would take off late tomorrow night for Washington. He has promised Congress he would be back home Sunday.

The foreign ministers, who are doing the truly hard work of the session, conferred from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., — with a two-hour lunch break — trying to put in shape the projects assigned them. This afternoon they received a new directive which gave correspondents an indication of new weight attached to one of the Russian proposals.

The No. 1 task of the foreign ministers remains to work out some plan for their continued study — in Geneva probably in October — of the question of German reunification. Their second task is to report on disarmament prospects.

But as a new and separate project they were to report on the strengthen President Eisenhower's hand at the Big Four conference in Geneva.

The chairman of the Appropriations committee, Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.), said that was one of the main reasons why the committee approved restoration.

Ellender ripped into the Defense Department for what he called its last minute obligation of previously appropriated military aid funds.

He said the Defense Department had obligated over 700 million dollars just five and a half hours before the June 30 deadline marking the end of the last fiscal year.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), who previously has complained about this, said he thought the Defense Department and the Budget Bureau should be investigated and "brought to account."

He said "something questionable was going on" when such huge sums were obligated just before the end of a fiscal year when, otherwise, the money would revert to the Treasury.

Ellender and his colleague, Sen. Long (D-La.) told the Senate that Asst. Secretary of Defense McNell and Budget Bureau officials had violated an agreement they made with three key members of the House Appropriations Committee about obligating unspent funds on June 30.

They said Reps. Taber (R-N.Y.), Passman (D-La.) and Wigglesworth (R-Mass.) agreed to obligation of 312 millions of such funds on an amount not be earmarked.

Now, Ellender said, the Senate committee action in restoring the 420-million House cut "amounts to an indictment of every member of the House Appropriations Committee."

Five girls will be selected for the final judging. Besides the gown and bathing suit routine, they also will give brief speeches.

The contestants spent much of the day rehearsing their appearances on stage. Bob Russell, who presides as master of ceremonies at the program, coached them during the rehearsals, telling them how to stand, walk, talk and smile.

This is the fourth annual Miss Universe contest. Judges have been warned not to let politics influence their decisions, although it is known that the Orient and Latin America — both glamorously represented at this pageant — have not won the crown.

The meeting was unusual in that it was the first time Nixon has presided over a cabinet session while the President was out of the country. Nixon has presided over weekly cabinet meetings about half a dozen times before in the chief executive's absence.

Mr. Eisenhower, in what has been termed a political gesture toward the 42-year-old vice president, left a hand-written note authorizing Nixon to summon and preside over the cabinet while the chief executive was at Geneva.

The A-1 was reported drilling yesterday at approximately 7,600 feet, toward a contract depth of 10,500 feet.

This success, after innumerable tests that failed, will herald a lively drilling activity in this new oil field, it is anticipated.

Capt. Wool Quits Army In Face Of Court Martial

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP) — Air Force Capt. Raymond Wool, involved in an investigation of alleged corruption in armed services purchasing, has resigned his commission, the Air Force announced today.

It said Wool's resignation, accepted "for the good of the service" amounts to dismissal of court-martial charges pending against him but "in no wise handicaps" the Justice Department in any possible action against him.

It also said Wool's separation from the service was "under conditions other than honorable" and that this would bar him from veteran benefits to the same extent as a dishonorable discharge resulting from a court-martial conviction.

Senators investigating a r m e d services clothing contacts received hearsay evidence in May that Wool "got $50,000" for helping swing a 1953 contract for seven million sailor caps to Harry Lev, a Chicago manufacturer.

Both Wool and Lev denied the story, but Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, asserted that Lev had "failed" to disprove the hearsay evidence. Wool admitted that he filed false income tax returns from 1951 to 1953.

Wool formerly headed the armed forces clothing purchasing unit in New York. He was transferred to the Air Material Command at Dayton, Ohio, and restricted to the base there after court-martial proceedings were started. The Air Force charged him with permitting doctors' bills to be paid by a contractor, falsifying travel vouchers and accepting gifts for services rendered.

New Crossword

MEND. MENDING her clothes is part of the work of MINDING them.

10. "Very nervous" points to RINK. You would probably expect a very nervous person to keep off a RINK. As for RISK, why single out a "very nervous" person. We should all avoid RISKS, wherever possible.

13. SET is best. The clue implies that luck is a relatively small CONTRIBUTORY factor. (It "CAN play its part"). This favors a SET (of tennis) in which SKILL is the prime factor. The winning of a BET, a gamble, VERY LARGELY depends on luck.

18. DATA is the more comprehensive answer. The DATE would merely be one piece of DATA. Also, there must be a certain amount of DATA, but there may be no DATE at all.

19. BARKER is particularly apt, since it is his JOB to get customers inside. There is no point in specifying BARBER, as against any other tradesman. Also, a BARBER lacking capital may find it very difficult indeed to improve his business.

24. SEE is preferred. He may well prefer not to SEE him, but whether or not he preferred to SUE him would depend on the nature of his offence in law.

25. STAR is more apt. Surely ALL "old troupers" MUST STAY in business for many years else they are not really "old troupers."

26. The clue calls for "a cry of warning." FORE is SPECIFICALLY a cry of warning in golf; FIRE is not; it may be merely announcing that there is a fire.

CLUES DOWN:
1. A LAMP will be the better for regular daily attention. A LAMB must be taken out and brought in, but does not require individual daily attention.

2. MONK has a sounder general application than MINK. Any average person knows what a MONK looks like, but may well have difficulty in distinguishing furs. Also, what you take for MINK may be artificial.

5. CAKE is best. Not COKE, since, in industry, it is natural to think of vast quantities being consumed. If you ate very little CAKE yourself, you might well be surprised to hear how much was consumed annually by the whole nation.

7. They are quite definitely TIRED. But there is nothing to prevent a man attempting the swim WITHOUT being TIMED.

9. With a DIVER it is a question of giving "AN" order (to his assistants at the surface). A DINER gives "his" order, not "an" order.

16. FATTER, yes; but "FASTER" (alone) suggests a RUNNER more than a BOXER. For boxer, "FASTER on his feet" or "FASTER to the punch" would be better.

17. The usual suggestion is that spring is the SEASON, and some person of the opposite sex is the REASON.

Long, Ellender Ballot Against Foreign Aid Bill

Cole's body was pulled from behind the steering wheel, and all doors appeared closed. The right door was open, witnesses said, when the car was pulled from the bayou.

Poland said a Bible believed to have floated from Cole's car, was recovered by police from the water when the car was being removed.

Strickland said Cole was an excellent worker and was obviously very happy with his job. Asked about a suicide possibility, Strickland added, "I just can't see any reason for him to do anything like that to himself."

Sheriff Grant said Cole's 1949 Plymouth did not go into the river from the bridge. Instead, it left the road a few feet from the east end and ploughed into the water several yards from the bridge, "head first."

Funeral services for Cole will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the chapel of Hall Funeral Home, with the Rev. R. L. Ross, pastor of Memorial Park Baptist Church, officiating.

Interment will follow in Memorial Park cemetery.

Mr. Cole is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nettie Cole, West Monroe; one daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Cole, of West Monroe; two sons, Tommy Cole and Richard Cole, both of West Monroe; one sister, Mrs. Blanche McManus, West Monroe; one brother, Claude Cole, of West Monroe; his mother, Mrs. Cole, West Monroe.

Pallbearers will be George Williamson, W. M. Love, Fred Beeton, A. C. Erwin, R. R. Harding, and Fred Cowan.

Criminal Action Ruled Out By DA In Taxi Slaying

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 22 (AP) — The case of two South Carolina sisters charged with murdering a cab driver is not expected to be submitted to the grand jury. J. Carlton Loser, district attorney general, today said circumstances do not warrant criminal prosecution.

Jeanette Lee, 19, and Alice Mae Lee, 24, were released from Davidson County jail today under a $1,000 bond each. They left immediately for their home in Greenville, S. C.

They were arrested in the Tuesday night fatal knifing of Maurice Berkovitz, 33.

Investigators said the slaying followed an altercation which resulted when Berkovitz made an indecent proposal to Alice while the girls, Berkovitz, and another cab driver were at a drive-in here.

CORN LAND DESIRED

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Interest in the buying of farm land picked up in most of the northern corn belt states during 1954 because of favorable weather and high farm income. The U. S. Department of Agriculture said the farm market was not really active "but the better farms found ready buyers."

4 Persons Hurt In Hit-And-Run 2-Car Accident

Four persons, of Route One, West Monroe, were injured Friday when the pickup truck in which they were riding was struck by a hit-and-run driver about 11 miles west of West Monroe, state police reported last night.

Injured were Willie F. Coleman, 75, who received a broken leg and left leg bruises; Mildred Archer, 46, suffered broken ribs, face and hand lacerations. Mrs. Mary Coleman, 60, received a fractured right arm and possible internal injuries; and Kenneth Duncan, 8, was bruised about the body.

According to the report, Mildred Archer said she was driving the pickup at 40 m.p.h. at 2:45 p.m. when it was struck by another truck traveling at higher speed. The other truck did not stop.

It was not known last night just what happened to the pickup after it was struck, except that it received about $400 damage. Victims were taken to Charity Hospital.

Urges Christians To Increase Role In Civic Affairs

LONDON, July 22 (AP)—Dr. C. Emanuel Carlson of Washington, D. C., a leading American Baptist, today urged increased participation by Christians in social and governmental affairs.

Dr. Carlson is general secretary of the American Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs. Addressing the closing session of the Baptist World Alliance, Dr. Carlson coupled his plea with a prayer for greater tolerance, saying:

"In God there is neither east nor west and God has no favorite race nor flag."

The session at Albert Hall was the final general meeting of the Alliance's Jubilee Congress. The afternoon was devoted to sectional gatherings. The Congress will end tonight with an evangelical service at the Arsenal Football Stadium to be addressed by Billy Graham, the American evangelist, himself a Baptist. The stadium has accommodation for about 65,000 persons.

Some 8,000 delegates from all over the world have attended the week-long Congress.

Dr. Carlson's address was regarded by many as a statement of the chief spiritual aim of the Alliance.

The growth of Democratic processes in government in many parts of the world imposes on Christians an obligation to take a greater interest in public affairs, Dr. Carlson said.

Dr. Carlson said this week had produced two summit conferences, the Big Four session at Geneva and the Baptist deliberations here. He expressed confidence the results of the two sessions will bring a promise of a bright future for the world.

"At Geneva men have begun to see that war is suicide, and here we have seen this vast demonstration of God's love which has drawn together our peoples from many lands," he said.

"Social and political institutions are the sum of individuals who participate in them, and can be used for great good or great evil. The Christian must exert his weight on the side of good."

"The Christian is aware that when human souls' united power grows, he does not flee to a monastic hideout but he seeks to speak the judgments of God."

The Congress passed a resolution recording "our deep desire for peace between all men everywhere and our resolve to seek it."

The resolution added: "We view with horror the actual effects of the use of nuclear weapons and welcome the salutary warning given by men of science of their destructive powers and also their support of the call for the abolition not merely of such instruments of death but of war itself which leads to their employment."

"Statesmanship and agreements are not enough, however necessary and good they may be. The evil things in the hearts of men must be met and matched by the full strength of the spiritual resources entrusted by God to his people."

Catahoula Reports Large Rain Falls

JONESVILLE, July 22 (Special)—Recordings made at the Aimwell fire tower in Catahoula parish revealed that 7.37 inches of rainfall had been recorded through July 19.

District Forester Charles Delaney said the rainfall at the Aimwell tower for 1955 has surpassed the total amount recorded at the tower during the whole year of 1954.

The 7.37 inches this month pushed the total for 1955 to 39.67 inches, compared with only 39.01 inches at the Aimwell tower during 1954.

Top Officials Of Peron's Party Resign Their Posts

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 22 (AP)—Alberto Tessaire, Argentina's vice president, resigned today as head of the ruling Peronista party. He expressed hope his action will help bring political peace to the nation.

Tessaire, a 64-year-old retired rear admiral, said at a news conference he will devote full time to governmental affairs and leave party politics to the politicians.

Tessaire was following the lead of President Juan D. Peron, who a week ago announced he was retiring as "chief of the revolution to become President of all Argentines, friends and foes." Peron asserted his goal is pacification of the country and asked his official followers to be ready to offer their resignations if necessary to achieve political peace.

Four members of the party's supreme council reportedly followed Tessaire's lead today — Angel Miel Asquia, Jose Guillermo de Prisco, Luis Alala and Sen. Alberto Duran. The Peronista consultative junta, composed of party delegates from throughout Argentina, will meet Monday to pick their successors.

Others who previously were reported to have answered Peron's call for a reshuffle of Peronista forces are Antonio J. Benitez, speaker of the Argentine House of

Alabama Solons Approve School Assignment Law

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 22 (AP)—The Alabama Legislature took a bold, far-reaching step to preserve classroom segregation today by giving local boards almost unlimited authority to determine where individual pupils must attend school.

Without debate and without dissenting votes, the Senate passed and sent to the governor a school placement measure previously approved by the House. The roll call vote in the Senate was 32-0.

The bill gives city and county school boards unprecedented police power to "assure social order, good will and the public welfare" in the assignment of pupils on the grade school and high school level. It does not apply to institutions of higher learning.

Each schoolchild would be given his assignment on an individual basis, determined by what board members decide to be the best interests of the pupil and the community and considering also his intelligence, learning ability and personal character.

The act makes no mention of racial distinction, but its admitted purpose is to keep Negroes out of white schools despite the U.S. Supreme Court decree that segregation is unconstitutional.

Gov. James E. Folsom has not indicated what action he will take. He has six days after the bill reaches his desk to sign or veto it, or let it become law without his approval.

The governor told reporters recently he did not see "anything seriously wrong" with it. The newly approved segregation measure repeals a statutory barrier against integrated schools, but leaves undisturbed an existing provision in the state constitution that prohibits mixed attendance.

If the measure becomes law—and both the Senate and House passed it with enough votes to school boards will have "full and final authority and responsibility" for the assignment of pupils.

Olla Post Elects New Commander

OLLA, July 22 (Special)—The new commander of the Olla American Legion Post No. 303 is Cleve Womack.

Other new officers are as follows: D. Holloway, first vice-commander; J. Jeffery, second vice-commander; Buddy Harris, adjutant; Cornet W. Wagner, service officer; Louis Collins, membership chairman; Speedy Morrison and Robert McCartney, color guards; Lawrence Elliott, Sr., sergeant at arms.

Deputies: Jose V. Tesorieri, Miel House's first vice president; Miel Asquia, who was head of the Peronista bloc in the House.

"Tessaire, rather than Peron, has been titular head of the party. It holds all the seats in the Senate and 143 seats in the 155-seat House. Although Tessaire relinquishes the party reins, he will continue in his government jobs as vice president, presiding officer of the Senate and Peron's secretary of political affairs."

Tessaire's announcement came in the midst of increased political activity by opposition parties and some violence. One person was reported killed in Buenos Aires early today in a shooting touched off by a demonstration by members of the opposition Radical party. Yesterday a bomb went off in front of a Peronista political school.

For several days rumors about the government have swept the capital, creating a state of jitters. Tuesday and Wednesday government radio stations read a statement denouncing rumormongers and asserting that calm prevailed in the country.

Opposition political parties, replying to Peron's pacification call, have demanded that the government lift the state of internal war imposed in 1951 and restore constitutional guarantees.

German Divorcee Given 17 Months As Russian Spy

FRANKFURT, July 22—UP—A beautiful, red-haired German divorcee, once employed as a stenographer at a U. S. Air Base here, was sentenced to prison for 17 months Friday as a spy for the Russians.

Ursula Schmidt, 28, broke down and wept when sentence was passed by German Judge Englebert Pawlitt, who said she had been an "important" figure in Soviet spy operations in Germany.

"Your beauty made you especially dangerous," the judge said. Fraulein Schmidt actually will spend 15 months in prison. Two months were lopped off her sentence to allow for time she spent in jail pending investigation of the case.

The five-man court headed by Pawlitt found the shapely fraulein guilty on charges that she and a boy friend passed U. S. military secrets to a Russian spy.

The man, Erwin Felker, and the spy, Karl Kubisch, have been convicted and imprisoned. Felker received a six-month sentence by cooperating with U. S. investigators, but Kubisch is serving 3 1/2 years.

Fraulein Schmidt went to Canada two years ago, but was deported last year at U. S. request and arrested when she landed in Bremerhaven.

The trial Friday was closed to the public for security reasons, but defense attorney Leo Auerbach said the first session was devoted to a recital of fraulein Schmidt's "life history."

A Judge Deals With A Mob Challenge

Judge Walter B. Hamlin of Civil District Court in New Orleans has found the CIO Union local at the Colonial Sugars Plant in Gramercy and 33 of its officers and members guilty of violating a court order banning picketing at the strike-bound refinery.

He assessed a fine of $1,000 against the local, and fined five officers $150 each and sentenced them to five days in jail, with another 30 days if they don't pay the fines.

Five union members were fined $150 each, and given five-day suspended jail sentences. Twenty-three others were fined $100 each and ordered to serve three days in jail.

The order against picketing was issued by Judge Clyde V. St. Amant of the St. James Parish district court after non-striking employees had been beaten in a number of instances, and violence and bloodshed had erupted. Judge Hamlin's ruling followed two weeks of hearings at Convent.

Judge Hamlin denied a union motion to modify Judge St. Amant's order banning picketing, and approved a company application for a preliminary injunction against the use of pickets.

The CIO local is a member of the United Packing-house Workers of America, which struck not only the Gramercy plant but also the Godchaux Sugars plant at Reserve in a controversy over wages.

Judge Hamlin's ruling placed the blame for the violence and disorder and defiance of law squarely upon the CIO union, nationally and locally.

"The court is compelled to conclude, as a reasonable man," he said, "that said defendants and their international mentors have absolutely no regard for the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of Louisiana, the laws of Louisiana, and the orders of its duly-constituted courts."

According to Judge Hamlin, testimony at the hearing showed "There is a chain of command from the top down (in the union) for the fomentation of violence and contempt for the orders of a constitutional court." Testimony corroborated company charges, he added, that mass disorderly picketing had taken place, replacement workers had been beaten or threatened, a company pipe-line blown up, homes of supervisory employees damaged, and a widespread program of annoyance, harassment and malicious mischief launched against the non-strikers.

"The court holds that the picketing was enmeshed with the violence, and vice versa. The evidence preponderates to the effect that, in this formerly peaceful and law abiding community, the incidents hereinabove set forth were all planned, instigated, and carried out by the defendants, the said union, and its officers, members and persons acting in concert with them, pursuant to the unlawful conspiracy alleged in the petition."

Seldom if ever in American judicial history has a more stinging indictment of a lawless union, invoking mob violence to bolster its demands, thumbing its nose at constituted authority, attempting by force to intimidate the officials and the people, been delivered from a bench.

Judge Hamlin's ruling is all the more impressive because of the fact that he was called in as a disinterested jurist to pass upon issues where he had not exercised original jurisdiction.

The CIO union and its officers and members have the right to appeal to the State Supreme Court; and no doubt they will exercise it.

In the meantime, the terror that stalks in the night at Gramercy is likely to abate; and if it doesn't, if the CIO persists in the belief that it can flout the American constitution and the Louisiana State constitution, and the laws and courts of this state, its leaders and members may be painfully reminded that the lot of outlaws is a hard lot—that crime does not pay.

Painful Budgetary Facts

The United States government ended the 1954-55 fiscal year, as of June 30, with a deficit of $4,200,000,000, according to announcement made Wednesday by the Treasury Department and the Bureau of the Budget.

The public debt is expected to reach $280,000,000,000 before the end of the new fiscal year.

A pledge to balance the budget was one of the major planks in the Republican platform on which President Eisenhower was elected.

The government took in during the last fiscal year $60,302,503,608, and spent or obligated $64,494,075,559.

The American Constitution took effect on March 4, 1789. During the 1789-1800 fiscal year, the government's receipts were $5,717,000, and its expenditures $5,776,000, so it went in the hole and set the bad precedent of a budget unbalanced by $59,000.

The average annual receipts for the disastrous years of the War Between the States, 1861-65, were $160,907,000, while expenditures were $683,785,000.

Not until 1909 did expenditures again reach this annual total.

The first "billion dollar" Congress in American history operated during Woodrow Wilson's administration, in 1917, the year of American entry into World War II. Receipts that year were a little over a billion dollars—expenditures nearly two billion.

During the next two years, expenditures soared above $33 billion.

In 1870, despite the enormous costs of the conflict between North and South, the per capita public debt was only $61.06. In 1915 it had been reduced to $11.85. Between 1944 and the present, it has hovered between $1,400 and $2,000.

Sen. Byrd of Virginia, the nation's leading advocate of federal economy, declared recently that it would be comparatively easy to balance the federal budget, except for an American state of mind, which wants the nation to spend constantly more than it receives—go heavier and heavier in debt.

THESE DAYS Unity Of Thought

One would have thought that the United States, Great Britain and France had had ample time to work out a united front at Geneva. Surely, if these countries were to accomplish anything against the Soviet Universal State, they needed to show that their thought on international problems is both coherent and cohesive. In fact, that is what they went to Geneva to prove to the Russians.

So Sir Anthony Eden had a plan of his own and M. Faure had a plan of his own and President Eisenhower made a seven point speech which is somewhat different from the ideas of Eden and Faure. That is what happened on the first day of the conference and the chorus goes up, "Ain't peace wonderful!"

A year ago, "The Economist," which is one of the most serious publications in England, published this paragraph about the conference which was then taking place in Geneva:

"For the moment the most important thing is that British policy should be ready, in case of failure, to keep the initiative and the lead it has taken."

That is exactly what M. Faure tried to do. He tried to seize the initiative, but his difficulty is that he heads a country that possesses neither the military power nor the economic position to support the initiative in international leadership. All that France can do is create a bad situation and then ask the United States to support it. This has been the most that France has done in many generations.

It was unfortunate that President Eisenhower could not have delivered a speech on behalf of the three nations, so that the Russians would know that they faced a united West. Of course, they, the Russians, know that there is no unity in the West; that free societies cannot be unified without losing their freedom. In fact, differences of opinion, freely expressed, are essential to the character of Western civilization. It is the essential contrast between freedom and autocracy.

As the Geneva conference had to be, from its very nature, preliminary, it matters little what speeches the men at the summit made, except that they set the tone. The actual negotiations will be done by experts, not by politicians who have to keep one eye on the ballot box at all times. M. Faure watched his position in a country of such instability that no government long survives its decision. While Sir Anthony Eden has a longer tenure before him and a working majority in the House of Commons, he nevertheless has so long suffered from being what appeared to be the permanent second man to Winston Churchill that it is only to be expected that he will want to attitudinize somewhat. President Eisenhower has an election coming up in 1956.

The experts will treat the problems more objectively, if given half a chance by the politicians. They will come up with proposals that are practical. If only the United States, which must assume the greatest responsibility for the future, could negotiate with Soviet Russia directly, the likelihood would be a workable agreement for a period sufficiently long—say five or 10 years—to give both countries a breathing spell to find solutions for detailed problems.

Professor Hans J. Morgenthau, in his book, "Politics Among Nations," makes this point:

"The most formidable difficulty facing a scientific inquiry into the nature and ways of international politics is the ambiguity of the material with which the observer has to deal. The events which he must try to understand are, on the one hand, unique occurrences. They happened in this way only once and never before or since. On the other hand, they are similar, for they are manifestations of social forces. Social forces are the product of human nature in action. Therefore, under similar conditions, they will manifest themselves in a similar manner. But where is the line to be drawn between the similar and the unique?"

The expert knows this to be true. He also knows that every transaction is a bargain-counter operation, more like selling antiques at a fair than selling one-priced, standard brand articles in a department store. A deal can almost always be made, if both sides know why they want to make the deal. The United States may find some allies too heavy to carry along.

We Will Muddle Through

A hundred or so years ago, when the United States was rent by the most horrible of all wars . . . civil war . . . a British M. P. got to his feet in the House of Commons and said:

"My opinion is that the Northern states will manage somehow to muddle through."

And so they did.

Now, almost a century since John Bright's famous utterance, we might well re-apply his faith.

Our statesmen are coming home from Geneva without any consequential concession from the Communists. Despite this, Americans are so eager to forget 30 years of Soviet terror that one week of honeyed words has left us talking disarmament.

Indeed, Wall Street is betting on it!

The stock market speculators are betting that we will cut back aircraft production, even though there is no evidence whatever to indicate any difference in today's situation from those similar instances in recent history when the Soviets were signing "non-aggression pacts" with Hitler, just before the axe fell.

Thirty-eight times since World War Two, when somebody took Soviet signatures seriously, the resultant apathy led to an ambush. If we will be hypnotized into relaxing by a few weeks of soft talk, then they're lighting our peace-pipe with an A-bomb.

The only thing that drove the Bolsheviks into this corner where they had to get the chip off their shoulder and talk softly—was the military might which we are now tempted to abandon!

Yet, in evaluating the outcome of the week at the summit, we have returned without further denigrating our national honor. We have retained a degree of Western unanimity of purpose. We have not disarmed. We have not abolished our ban on strategic trade.

So we have let the Russians know that, though we've relaxed some, we're not asleep yet.

We might have done worse. A man or a nation sometimes approaches a depth of physical and mental exhaustion during which time his judgment is improperly influenced by his fatigue.

You have endured such times. These are the hours when crisis follows so closely upon the heels of crisis that there is no adequate pause between to recoup, to refresh.

Men and women who survive these "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" do so by tedious pilgrimage. There is no other way. It is not possible for us to sit down at our own personal "summit" and resolve all our difficulties neatly and completely and dispose of all our troublesome decisions in time for lunch.

Planning has a place in our existence. But there are too many crises we can't possibly anticipate . . . too many forks in the road which we can't see from here.

So we just plod ahead. We stumble and fall but we get up and go on.

Individually and collectively we make mistakes . . .

But we muddle through.

BEAR TRAP OR MAN TRAP?

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Too Much Too Soon

There are a host of young mothers and fathers in this country today, and this is a very good thing for the country. Being inexperienced in parenthood and wanting earnestly to do their very best for their children, they look for information on the subject. They attend health clinics and lectures on child management, and read books on the way to rear healthy happy children.

Says one young mother, "The more I read, the more confused I grow. One says one thing and the next one says another. I give up."

Don't give up trying to rear a healthy happy child but do give up reading one authority after another. Set your course by your own pediatrician and read the book he suggests as helpful. Stay by it and the pediatrician. Don't go shopping for a doctor and another book. That way lies much trouble and confusion.

The young mother looks back on her childhood. What did her mother do in such a situation? Does it seem right now? Did it make her more at peace with herself and her world or did it leave her unhappy and unsatisfied? Memory is a great help here. It calls on common sense, a most valuable quality for a mother to cultivate. It says, "Do what seems best under the circumstances."

The book says to feed the baby on schedule. If I do that he cries long before the clock says "Time." If I feed him when he cries, "hungry," he goes to sleep with a smile on his face." Common sense says feed him.

"The book says: 'Don't pick him up every time he cries. It creates a bad habit.' I look to see if he is wet and if he is, I change him and put him back, but he keeps on crying and I can't stand it and pick him up. He cuddles against me and goes to sleep in a few minutes, but I feel guilty."

Don't feel guilty. You will soon learn when to cuddle and when not to cuddle. Babies are intelligent and they are quick to learn how to gain more personal attention than they exactly need. But mothers soon learn that and common sense tells them to keep the baby comfortable and as happy as possible while keeping his demands within reason.

If "within reason," is too indefinite for the inexperienced young mother, there is always the pediatrician to advise her. Tell him about the troubles you have or feel you have, and he will gladly advise about the situation. Remember that you, the young mother, and your husband, the young father, must live happily, too. Have no guilty feeling about that. And stay by your own pediatrician and your chosen book.

Pilfering is characteristic of childhood, but youngsters pass through this stage if properly guided. Dr. Patri's leaflet, P-27, "Pilfering," explains what to do about it. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Engines to make a bag large enough to hold a city twice the size of Detroit.

Elevators in New York's Rockefeller Center have carried more than a billion passengers since they were installed 23 years ago. The passenger total is equivalent to half the population of the world.

In the last five years Americans have purchased more than 350,000 electrical appliances to increase their comfort and convenience. This is an average of two appliances for each man, woman and child in the United States.

The average family in the 1920's spent about 25 cents of its wage dollar for food, about the same as now, according to the U. S. agriculture department.

IN WASHINGTON

Health Insurance

How far the federal government will go into the related fields of health, education and welfare under the Eisenhower administration will probably be determined during the tenure of Marion B. Folsom as secretary of HEW. But just now few envy the Georgia born industrialist - economist in the role he occupies as successor to Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

So far the Republican administration has not been active in any of the three fields, with the result that White House advisors had put their hopes on the Salk polio vaccine program as the first great program to which they could point as having been administered by the newest department of the federal government. That it did not work out that way cannot be blamed on former Secretary Hobby.

Though the vaccine distribution program may cause Secretary Folsom some headaches, he is far more concerned at the outset with keeping the social security program in balance, fighting off socialized medicine and keeping the demand for more federal aid for schools from creating an additional government financial burden. As former undersecretary of the treasury, he knows how much such programs cost. He also understands what the authorization of tremendous new expenditures can do to increase the federal deficit.

It has been well understood here that President Eisenhower has wanted a checkrein on the activities of HEW until he could study recommendations as to their scope. His health insurance and hospitalization programs have been rebuffered by a Republican congress and not encouraged by the Democrats, so one of Folsom's first efforts is expected to be to bring them up to date.

What Folsom will advocate, with administration approval is that congress assist in the expansion of voluntary health insurance, to a point where persons subscribing to it within certain income limits will have their worries reduced about hospital charges, medicines and surgeons fees.

People with higher incomes would get the same benefits but could be asked to pay higher fees for surgery. The insurance would be carried by individuals and families through private companies, with the government establishing a reinsurance system some what as it has on construction mortgages.

When congress began to survey the health insurance situation, investigators found so many inequities and so many disqualifications by private companies which would be in conflict with the president's health insurance plan that it shelved the whole legislative parcel.

Folsom favors a uniform benefit system of voluntary health insurance to one of cash benefit payments, as more acceptable to doctors and as creating less of a problem for government supervision.

The American Medical Association, realizing that socialized medicine will become an increasing threat if some step is not taken to make health insurance general, especially in an age of larger families, is expected to cooperate with Folsom.

The health insurance problem is regarded as one of the next on President Eisenhower's "forward looking program," though it cannot come before congress before next session. As an executive who has been said to understand social security and its problems as well as Arthur Altmeyer, former administrator of the social security administration, who resigned when Mrs. Hobby took over as HEW secretary, Folsom shouldn't have many old age pension problems.

Any plans for federal aid to education have been held up for at least two years by the friction over the supreme court decision on segregated schools, it is estimated here.

But the new cabinet seat is always a hot one and Mrs. Hobby didn't occupy it long enough to reduce the temperature much. Secretary Folsom must bank on advancing a program that will at least have Republican support and will improve the relations of health, education and welfare with the country at large.

If work done by diesel locomotives on American railroads in 1954 had been performed by steam locomotives, it would have cost the railroads more than $500,000,000 in additional fuel and maintenance costs alone.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Don't think I am exaggerating when I describe Timmy's mother. I am quoting the incident verbatim. And you teenagers can profitably study this case, despite the vulgar language, just to realize the wide differences among American mothers throughout America in this year 1955 A.D.

Case O-390: Timmy, aged 3, recently entered one of our Chicago Department stores with his mother and grandmother. The mother reluctantly tossed her cigaret aside, for we have a city ordinance forbidding the use of cigarets in Chicago department stores.

Soon Timmy was tired and lifted his arms toward his mother, hoping she'd pick him up. But she just slapped his hands, irritably.

Timmy then turned toward his grandmother, but she gave him a shove against the counter, and his whining increased.

Meanwhile, his mother found what she wanted and stood at the counter waiting for a sales girl. But the clerks were all busy.

"Why don't you wait on somebody who already knows what she wants?" demanded the mother in a loud voice, but the clerks paid no heed for they were occupied.

Timmy meanwhile reached up his arms toward his mother.

"Shut up, you little bastard!" his mother angrily exclaimed. "I wish I had never set eyes on you. And if you don't stop whining, I'll slap your face good."

A few moments later she slapped him sharply across the mouth.

Test For Mothers

The reason I am giving you this true case, uncensored, is to show you the wide differences in mothers that exist throughout our land.

We celebrate Mother's Day in May, but many mothers are not good mothers. Even if Timmy's mother were tired herself, that was no excuse for repeatedly striking a weary toddler and using such crude language on him.

When Timmy enters kindergarten in the Chicago public schools, you can guess as to his cultural background and vocabulary.

For when a mother uses such vulgar vocabulary among other women, you can be pretty sure her language is far worse at home when she is having a quarrel with her husband.

My one brief contact with this mother would enable me to write a very detailed character sketch. I could fill in a lot of things that might not be prudent to mention herein, for all experienced doctors have seen the gamut of human personalities, ranging from the scum to the cultured, Christian types of mother.

Timmy is very likely one of the hapless children growing up in a bad home atmosphere.

And these bad homes where bad parents use bad psychology, are the chief cause for juvenile delinquency.

Bad Mothers

Although I didn't see this mother using liquor, do you think the odds are in favor of her being a tavern habitue?

Do you think this mother is a virtuous woman or one who has been unfaithful to her husband?

Did she belong to the Girl Scouts or CampFire Girls in childhood?

Did she attend Sunday school regularly?

Do you think she ever finished high school?

If she has older children of school age, does she belong to the P-T-A?

Do you think when her children are grown, they will fondly remember her with candy or flowers on future Mother's Days?

What is the likelihood that she is a divorcee?

There are just a few of the pertinent questions that you can probably answer with a high degree of accuracy, just from this one brief episode that I have described.

To see what good parents are really like, send for my 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Use them for P-T-A discussion periods.

Big Three Urge Viet Name To Join In Elections

GENEVA, July 22 (AP) — The United States was reported to have joined Britain and France today in a move to advise South Viet Nam that it should begin negotiating with the northern Communist regime for countrywide elections.

Prime Minister Eden arranged an informal talk with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tonight on the uneasy truce in the divided Indochinese state. Eden and Molotov were co-chairmen of the 1954 parley in this city which produced the truce.

A French delegation spokesman here reported "complete American-British-French agreement that the terms of the Geneva accord should be observed."

That move is expected to take the form of a joint or parallel Western suggestion to Premier Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam that he should contact the Communist-led Vietminh in talks to set up free elections.

President Ho Chi-minh's government in North Viet Nam on July 20 formally offered in a letter to French authorities to begin the discussions. The French spokesman said the letter was passed on to Diem in Saigon today.

Diem recently agreed to the principle of elections, but said there must be assurance of a free and democratic vote in North Viet Nam.

Cab Driver Held For Murder Of Korean Veteran

LIVINGSTON, Ill., July 22 (AP) — A St. Louis taxi cab driver was charged today with the "car-trunk" slaying of another cabby but he denied the charge.

Bobby D. Martin, 27, who admitted to St. Louis police he had served two prison terms, was arrested at the apartment of the slain man's estranged wife.

The body of Bobby Carr, 24, twice-decorated Marine Corps veteran of the Korean War was found in the trunk of his car near here yesterday. Carr had been shot four times and stabbed through the heart.

A murder warrant was issued against Martin after Carr's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reed, told police Carr and Martin had quarreled over Carr's wife.

Martin admitted serving a federal prison term in Washington, D. C., in 1943 on a robbery charge and a term in a Louisiana penal institution in 1951 on a narcotics charge.

St. Louis police said they found a revolver in Martin's apartment and a blood-stained sheet in the back seat of his automobile.

Pollock Hosts Episcopal Meet

ALEXANDRIA, La., July 22 (AP) — The Louisiana Episcopal Laymen tonight opened a three-day meeting in Camp Hardtner at Pollock.

The delegates will discuss tithing throughout the diocese, evaluate work of the past year and elect officers.

Galveston DA Promises Aid In Cleanup Try

GALVESTON, Tex., July 22 (AP) — District Atty. Marsene Johnson Jr. promised Galveston ministers tonight he would intensify his campaign to close bawdy houses. He also said he would try to get the police and sheriff's department to help.

Meanwhile, police have ordered bar owners to keep prostitutes out of their places and the mayor says he will close any bar where prostitutes are found after Monday.

Faure Submits 9-Point Plan To End Iron Curtain

GENEVA, July 22 (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure submitted to the Big Four summit conference today a nine-point plan for removing the Iron Curtain and other barriers to freer relationships between the East and West.

"Closer relations between peoples are an essential element in any relaxation of international tension," the French leader told the conference.

He proposed that the Big Four take immediate joint action to facilitate the free circulation of persons, ideas and goods.

Molotov 'Just Tough As Ever', West Discovers

GENEVA, July 22 (AP) — Russia's V. M. Molotov is just as tough a bargainer as ever, despite the smiles that have pervaded the Big Four conference at the summit, Western diplomats discovered today.

The four foreign ministers debated for hours tonight being able to come to agreement on problems tossed them by their chiefs. These problems boiled down to the priority to be given German unification and European security at a projected foreign ministers meeting in October.

Western informants said Molotov stiffened his neck in an effort to get maximum concessions and tossed in a new controversy—a proposal to invite East and West Germany to the October meeting. The Western Powers have consistently refused to recognize the East German government, which they consider a puppet of Moscow.

"We discovered tonight the old Molotov of 1947 and 1948," said one Western diplomat, a witness to the session. "After the smiles of the past few days it was like a cold shower."

He referred to meetings with Molotov at the height of the cold war, when his Western colleagues failed to budge him.

One diplomat said he is convinced the Soviet foreign minister is being far more stubborn than Soviet Premier Bulganin and other members of the Moscow delegation.

But another Western representative said, "Only tomorrow's meeting of the heads of government will show whether Molotov's chiefs have gone through the same transformation."

Man Charged In 'Drunk Flying'

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 22 (UP) — A charge of drunk flying was filed Friday against a Stratford, Tex., pilot who pleaded innocent at an arraignment.

Roy Harris, 35, posted a $500 bond in common pleas court after being charged with landing his Piper Cub plane at Tinker Air Force Base Thursday night.

Officials at Tinker said Harris barely missed a B-26 bomber which was taking off at the same time. Tinker Field is off limits to civilian aircraft except in emergencies.

The officials said Harris told them he had lost his way and did not realize where he was landing. He said he was en route to Okemah, Okla., to visit a relative.

The charge of driving a plane while drunk is a misdemeanor.

28 Injured As Trains Collide

SANTIAGO IXCUINTA, Mexico, July 22 (UP) — Twenty-eight persons were reported injured, 12 critically, when a switch engine collided Friday with a service train carrying workers and their families.

Railroad officials said the accident occurred at Ruiz station on the outskirts of this Nayarit state town when the engine switched to the wrong tracks. Moments later it crashed into the service train.

The injured were given first aid and rushed to a hospital where 12 were placed on the critical list.

NEW MERIT BADGE

NEW YORK (UP) — The Boy Scouts of America have added a merit badge for "railroading" to their list of awards. To win this badge Scouts must fulfill eight requirements which include giving a description of the growth and development of railroads in the United States, naming railroads that serve their community, explaining how locomotives develop power and identifying examples, models or pictures of different kinds of rolling stock and different locomotive types.

Ex-Legion Chief Says Russia Must Bare Intentions

ALEXANDRIA, La., July 22 (AP) — Donald Wilson, former national commander of the American Legion, said today President Eisenhower's proposal for mutual inspection of armament will determine "whether Russia will pursue its objective of world domination."

"If they reject the idea — as most people think they will then we must assume their goal remains conquest of the entire world," the Clarksburg, W. Va., attorney said.

Wilson, speaking at the opening session of the 37th annual convention of the Louisiana department of the Legion, said he considered the United Nations "not an instrument of peace but a vehicle to facilitate spreading of Russian propaganda."

A resolution to divorce Louisiana's 40 and 8 organization from the Legion was referred to the resolutions committee.

Lloyd Adams of New Orleans, grand chief de gare of the Louisiana vulture, said, "It is unthinkable that the 40 and 8 leave the Legion."

Charley Ardery, correspondent national, who was scheduled to address the first session, left before the meeting began. There was a report he had planned to urge the Louisiana vulture to vote to secede from the Legion.

Percy Lemoine, general chairman of the convention, said that Ardery apparently saw that the Louisiana unit had the "situation well in hand and figured he would be bucking a stone wall, so he left."

The Legion will end its convention Sunday.

Fire Causes Light Damage To Residence

A fire last night at 716 Washington, Monroe, burned the wall paper and scorched the walls in the kitchen of Harold Glenn Whitton's residence.

The fire was caused, firemen said, when William Meacorn, 715 Washington, Whitton's father-in-law, attempted to tighten a loose gas line behind the stove, and escaping gas caught from the burning pilot light.

Damage was limited to the burned wallpaper and scorched upper walls of the kitchen.

Fire trucks 101, 103 and ladder truck No. 2 answered the alarm at 9:06 p.m.

Peruvian Singer Becomes American

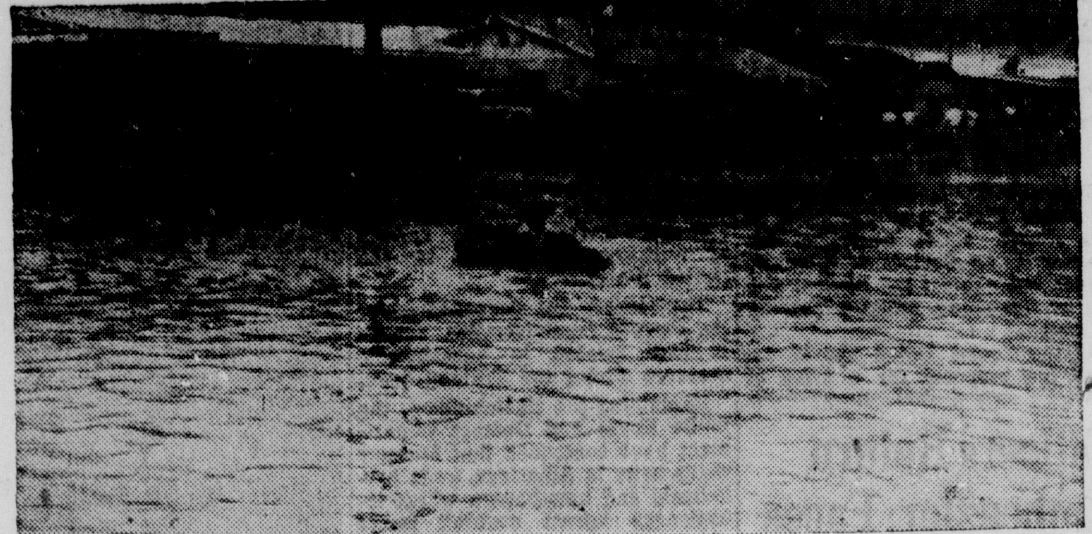

LOS ANGELES, July 22 (AP) — Yma Sumac, the Peruvian singer with the five-octave vocal range, became an American citizen today.

She won her papers along with 160 other aliens in Federal Judge Leon Yankovich's court. Her husband, arranger Moises Vivanco, who became a citizen a year ago, was also in court along with the couple's son, Charlie, 8.

ARIZONA GROWTH

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — Maricopa County civic and business leaders are planning for expansion of existing facilities and development of new communities to handle a population of nearly 1,000,000 persons in the next 10 years. The county, which includes Phoenix, currently has a population of 450,000 and is growing steadily. Plans call for improved public transportation, highway development and economic research.

The radiator division of one automobile manufacturer uses 320 tons of copper and 125 tons of solder each month.

FLOODED—Some 350 persons were evacuated from their homes in the fashionable Mountain View area at the foot of Mount Franklin in El Paso after a cloudburst sent flooding waters almost to window-sill level. Damage is expected to run into the millions.

Philadelphia To Seek Extradition Of Ellsworth

MEMPHIS, July 22 (AP) — Philadelphia today asked authority to extradite an ex-convict whose amazing bankroll got him charged with murdering a rich widow.

Philadelphia outlined its charge against Frank J. Ellsworth, 36, of Omaha. The hearing was continued until Aug. 24.

Two Las Vegas police sergeants said Ellsworth and Ray Wilson, 33, were picked up in Las Vegas July 6 after flashing a whopping bankroll around the gambling casinos.

The roll amounted to $87,237, most of it in $100 bills.

Philadelphia stepped in soon after Ellsworth and Wilson were charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, found suffocated in her Philadelphia hotel apartment July 4.

Philadelphia police expect to prove the money is part of about $100,000 — most in $100 bills — taken from Mrs. Rossman's safety deposit box.

Wilson, arrested in Las Vegas on the Philadelphia charges, also plans to fight extradition.

Ellsworth was first arrested in Omaha at Philadelphia's request, but made $75,000 bond on the fugitive warrants. He was rearrested when he flew here July 12.

Metal Sculpture To Be Accepted By Dallas Library

DALLAS, Tex., July 22 (AP) — The Dallas Public Library Board voted today to take back the controversial metal sculpture that Mayor R. L. Thornton called a "bunch of junk."

Board Chairman Boudie Storey said a group of citizens had raised $8,700 to buy the metal art object. He said the board would notify the City Council of its action. It then will be up to the council to authorize the library architect, George Dahl, to place it in the new library to be opened officially in September.

Dahl had the 3,000-pound 10 by 24 foot work dismantled and carted to his home after assuming responsibility for paying the artist, Harry Bertola.

The Barto, Pa., artist designed the object made of several hundred strips of metal alloy. At the time it was placed in the library Bertola said it conveyed whatever message its viewer thought it did.

The metal screen aroused a storm of controversy after it was hung in the new library. This resulted in an inspection and general condemnation of the object by the mayor and City Council.

SPECIAL HEARING AID TRADE-IN OFFER!

LARGE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR OLD HEARING AID

WHAT'S THE STORY ON HEARING AID TRADE-IN OFFERS?

You'll probably still pay more than the cost of the $125.00 Zenith 3-transistor Royal-T

Some dealers advertise a trade-in or allowance of from $50 to $100 on your present hearing aid towards the purchase of one of their transistor models. When you go to buy one, you'll find that they usually sell for $265.00, $270.00 and up to over $285.00 each! It's easy to offer a trade-in on a hearing aid that sells at such prices but...

LOOK AT THE FACTS

Suppose you are offered a trade-in of $100.00 on a $285.00 model. Figure it out... you're still paying $185.00 for the aid. Compare that to the $125.00 Zenith Royal-T. Quite a saving when you buy a Zenith. Here's another point. $125.00 buys you a new Zenith and you still have your old instrument for a "spare" — a higher priced hearing aid with a trade-in leaves you with only one hearing aid which still may have cost you more than the Zenith Royal-T.

Get the hearing help you want and save money at the same time. Prove to yourself what thousands of other Zenith users have proved... that you can't buy a better hearing aid than a Zenith at any price!

Probers Charge 'Arrangements' In House Appraisals

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP) — House investigators said today the real estate business in El Paso, Tex., has been dominated by "interlocking arrangements" that deprived the government of "the honest and unbiased services" of some federal appraisers for GI homes.

The House veterans affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Edmondson (D-Okla.) made this statement in a sharply worded report which also called on the Justice Department to present at once to a grand jury a case against Alvah Ben Swain, involving veterans administration insured home loans. Swain, now of Gulfport, Miss., was a former VA fee appraiser at El Paso who was questioned at a subcommittee hearing this week.

It asked the VA to determine whether builders and real estate operators who associated themselves with Swain or who were otherwise involved in the transactions considered by the subcommittee should be suspended from further taking part in VA home loan guarantees.

Taft, Roosevelt Memorials Get Tentative Okay

WASHINGTON, July 22 (A) — Erection of memorials to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) won tentative Senate approval today.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC) said plans for the Taft memorial, a bell tower on Capitol Hill, may set "an unfortunate precedent" if friends of other distinguished senators and representatives seek similar monuments in the future.

But Ervin did not block the project, which he could have done because the Senate was passing legislation under a unanimous consent rule.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), after the Roosevelt proposal had been approved, sought to add the name of the late President Calvin Coolidge.

But Republican leader Knowland of California, who had won passage of the Taft proposal ahead of regular order and immediately after the passage of the Roosevelt plan asked Bridges to present the Coolidge memorial separately. Bridges agreed to this.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) asked if citizens of Oregon could have a site on the Capitol plaza for a monument to the late Sen. Charles McNary, Oregon Republican who served as minority leader. Sen. Chavez (D-NM) said he thinks passage of the Taft memorial resolution would establish a precedent for such action.

Condemned Man's Trial Postponed Pending Appeal

WACO, Tex., July 22—UP—Marion Washington, a Negro soldier sentenced to the electric chair for murdering Airman 1c Henry Poole, won't be tried on rape charges until the Court of Criminal Appeals rules on his appeal from the death sentence.

Assistant District Attorney Burney Walker said he doesn't expect a ruling on the appeal until fall. Washington murdered Poole while Poole was defending his fiancée against Washington's attempts to rape her.

Poole's fiancée escaped ravishment, but Washington is charged with raping two other girls as Waco's lovers lane bandit.

Pius Treated By Infra-Red Rays

VATICAN CITY, July 22—UP—Vatican sources disclosed Friday that Pope Pius XII is receiving infra-red ray treatments for a rheumatic pain in his right shoulder.

But the papal physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, stressed that the 79-year-old pontiff's general condition is good. He ordered the treatments as a precaution before the Pope leaves for his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo. The pain, which has troubled the Pope for years, did not keep him from carrying out his customary routine.

He was busy Friday preparing an address to be broadcast Sunday to the world eucharistic congress in Rio de Janeiro. Vatican sources said he also was following the Geneva conference very closely.

Studdard Acquitted At City Court Trial

Fletcher T. Studdard, police juror from ward one who was charged with drunken driving and a peace warrant on a warrant issued by his estranged wife, was exonerated Friday by Acting Judge J. Norman Coon in a session of city court.

Studdard was arrested on the morning of July 13 by city police. He was later released under $1,000 property bond.

HANGS TOT ON LINE

FORT DODGE, Iowa, July 22—UP—A 23-year-old mother was questioned Friday about a complaint that she hung her two-year-old son up on a clothesline because she "couldn't train him."

Neighbors of the unidentified woman said they saw the boy dangling from a rope around his stomach in 90-degree heat. He was not seriously injured.

ACTRESS STABS SELF—

Film Actress Eve Miller, 31, (above) was in critical condition Wednesday after police officers reported they found her in her home with self-inflicted stab wounds in the abdomen. Her fiancé, Actor Glase Lohman, 31, told police that he informed Miss Miller that he could not marry her until he is "financially able" and indicated the affair a probable suicide after an argument. Pope, Argentina Near Agreement

BUENOS AIRES, July 22, UP—Papal Envoy Msgr. Marion Zanin announced Friday that the Roman Catholic church and the Argentine government are nearing a settlement of their seven-month-old controversy.

Emerging from a 75-minute conference with minister of foreign affairs and worship, Dr. Jeronimo Remorino, the nuncio said, "we are working for pacification. Naturally, you cannot obtain everything in 24 hours. A diplomat cannot always tell all he knows."

Confirming the nuncio's optimism, Remorino said, "I share Monsignor Zanin's words concerning pacification."

Msgr. Zanin said there had been a free discussion of all points at issue between the Argentine government and the Vatican.

"I said a lot of good words, and the foreign minister likewise," the nuncio said with a broad smile. He indicated that further conferences would be held.

City Courts

MONROE

Robert Moore, Jr., 20, 208 Cedar, Monroe, was fined $200 or 200 days default on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon by Acting Judge J. Norman Coon in city court Friday.

Other action disposed of yesterday included the following cases: James Brady, on a vagrancy charge, was given a 30 day compulsory jail sentence.

Two persons, both charged with fighting, were each fined $10 or 10 days default. They were: James Whittington, 17, 2800 Lee Avenue, Monroe, and Douglas Taylor, 17, 304 Moore, Monroe.

Four persons received fines on drunk charges. They were: Ernest Webb, 21, 101 Depot street, Monroe, fined $10 or 10 days default; Florine Atchison, 35, Fort Worth, Tex., fined $15 or seven days default; Mary Williams, 50, 505 Louisville, Monroe, fined $15, bond forfeited; and Dude Stone, Monroe, fined $15 or seven days default.

WEST MONROE

In a session of West Monroe city court Friday, Judge Jasper E. Jones fined three persons on charges of traffic violations. They were: Rose Marie Jones, 32, 103 Linderman, West Monroe, fined $25.50 for reckless driving and causing a wreck; Hester M. Chatman, 50, 5000 Gordon Avenue, Monroe, fined $20.50, bond forfeited, on a speeding charge; and Franklyn Williams, 18, West Monroe route, fined $5.50 for running a red traffic signal.

In other action yesterday, Judge Jones fined two people each $15 or 15 days default on drunk charges. They were: John Lee, 27, 804 Coleman, West Monroe, and Carl Mullens, 45, 600 Grammont, Monroe.

HIROSHIMA SURVIVOR ABILENE, Kan. (UP) — The atom bomb that devastated Hiroshima nearly a decade ago destroyed a Japanese temple but left intact a 300-year-old blue bowl of Imari porcelain. The bowl is the latest addition to the Eisenhower Memorial Museum, presented by Mrs. Walter H. Walker, widow of General Walker, who was killed in Korea.

Viet Nam Election Sought By Reds In Radio Broadcast

SAIGON, July 22—UP—A broadcast by Communist radio Viet Minh Friday demanded that the South Viet Nam government of American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem name its representatives to a conference to arrange all Viet Nam elections.

Elections were called for under terms of the Geneva truce which ended the Indo-China war. The consultation to arrange such elections were to have begun by July 20.

The Communist broadcast, originating in Hanoi, said a note was sent the premier of the non-Communist South Viet Nam government on July 19, calling for the talks.

Informed South Viet Nam government sources insisted no such note has been received.

The sources said, however, that Diem is willing to discuss elections with the Communists as soon as they free thousands of illegally held prisoners of war and allow refugees to leave Communist Viet Nam. The sources said Diem will reply to the note "rapidly and favorably," but with those conditions.

The Viet Minh radio accused Diem's government of quoting "facts not consistent with the truth" in stating its position on the elections. The reference was to Diem's recent speech in which he said he favored the principle of all Viet Nam elections, but they could not be carried out so long as the northern leaders placed communism above national interests.

Juvenile Force, More Recreation Facilities Asked

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., July 22 (A) — Establishment of adequate recreational facilities and a police juvenile division with trained personnel were recommended today by two citizens groups.

These were among a list of solutions of conditions that led to gang fights between civilian and Air Force teen-agers and imposition of military and city curfews recently.

The 9 p.m. curfew for Sheppard Air Force Base personnel was lifted Wednesday but airmen under 20 remain subject to the city's order for teen-agers to be off the street by 11 p.m. week nights and 12 midnight Saturdays.

The recommendations were offered at a meeting of a citizens committee and a joint committee of teen-age airmen and civilians. They will be passed on to the executive board of the Chamber of Commerce for further action.

RURAL DANGER

BOSTON (UP) — Seven out of every 10 automobile accidents happen on the open road in rural areas, according to the Massachusetts division of the AAA.

NO SNOW
SALISBURY, Conn. (UP) — Some of the longest jumps on record for the Connecticut state championship ski competition were made this year — without the aid of snow. The skiers got up speed on a base of 100 tons of finely ground ice which had been blown onto the hill shortly before the matches began.

Bridal Party In Shreveport Fetes Miss Margery Noble

Miss Margery Noble, whose marriage to Jerry Gunnells will be an event of this week-end, was entertained in Shreveport this week by Miss Lola Allen and Mrs. H. L. Thompson at a miscellaneous shower. The party was held in Mrs. Thompson's home on Atlantic Avenue at 7:30 o'clock.

Guests were greeted by the hostesses in the foyer where pink and white oleanders in a white basket introduced the color theme of the party. A white heart bowl filled with pink Rose O'Montana centered the coffee table and various other floral arrangements of dainty pink and white flowers filled the rooms.

Appropriate games were played and the gifts, placed in a large pink draped basket, were presented to the honoree by Miss Anna Lea Tompkins and Miss Sue Ann Gunnells. Miss Noble chose for the occasion a yellow-check cotton with tiered skirt and portrait neckline.

Refreshments were served in the dining room from a table covered with a pale green cloth, with a centerpiece of pink carnations flanked by silver candelabra holding pink tapers. On one end of the table was the crystal punch bowl presided over by the hostesses.

Two Hostesses Entertain Newcomers Club

The Mahogany Room at the Rendezvous was the scene of the monthly meeting and luncheon of the Catholic Newcomers Club Wednesday afternoon. Presiding in the absence of the president was Mrs. Jack Mortimer, vice-president. Hostesses for the gala occasion, which was followed by canasta and bridge, were Mrs. J. C. LaGrange and Mrs. Charles Planchard.

Guests enjoying the informal, "getting to know you" atmosphere were Mesdames W. R. Rambin, Dick Bruce, Frank Anzalone, A. G. Johnston, Vincent Anzalone, E. M. Forsmark, W. N. Krone, J. C. Howard, and Jerry Schastenberg.

Mrs. J. B. Filhoil Presides At Logtown HDC

The Logtown Home Demonstration Club held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, July 13th in the home of Mrs. Emmett Lee, with Mrs. J. T. Lee, co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. B. Filhoil, Sr. Mrs. W. J. Lowe led the group in prayer, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. J. T. Lee led in singing. Roll call was answered by telling whether our yards provide a public service and family living area.

Mrs. W. A. Calloway gave an interesting account of the last meeting when Mrs. C. A. Smith, hostess, entertained members with a boat ride up the Ouachita. Mrs. Calloway also reported on the Pecan Growers Association luncheon.

In the business session, the following leader's reports were given: Gardening, Mrs. Calloway; nutrition, Mrs. Grace Granberry; clothing, Mrs. Grace Granberry; family life, Mrs. A. T. Stout; food preparation, Mrs. Granberry; consumer education, Mrs. Berry and safety, Mrs. J. T. Lee.

Mrs. Lowe read a poem entitled "You Have to Believe" by Douglas Malloch. The agent, Mrs. Euna Spielman, gave an interesting and informative demonstration on landscaping.

The hostesses served refreshments to the following: Mrs. J. B. Filhoil, Sr., Mrs. W. J. Lowe, Mrs. Euna Spielman, Mrs. A. T. Stout, Mrs. Grace Granberry, Mrs. Mattie Scharf, Mrs. Carol Zachary, Mrs. Gertrude Landrum, Mrs. J. C. Williams, Mrs. J. Y. Pipes, Mrs. W. A. Calloway, Mrs. Tom Stockwell.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. A. T. Stout.

Oak Grove HDC Meets In July

The Oak Grove Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, July 20, at 2:30 p.m. in the High School home economics cottage.

Mrs. W. Byaragon presided over the meeting. Each member answered the roll call naming an article needed in the home. Mrs. K. D. Broadway read the minutes.

The HD agent, Miss Ruth Gully led a discussion on the preparation of cucumbers for lime pickles. She also discussed landscaping and the rooting of shrubs.

All members participated in a discussion of training children in the Family Life report.

The club decided to meet for a picnic with Mrs. K. D. Broadway, August 17. Mrs. Clyde Turner Sr. was hostess for the meeting.

Mrs. Brandenburg Entertains Cub Scout Den 3

Mrs. H. T. Brandenburg, mother of Oak Grove Cub Scout Den No. 3 entertained the scouts with an out-door party Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Roasting wieners and games were the high light of the party. Attending were Lawrence Henry Brandenburg, Kermit Edwards, Jerry Morris, Eddie Canton and Ronald Fiske.

Marriage Means Adjustments For Both Of Busy Pair

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: Last year my wife and I were divorced, after 10 years of unhappiness. She was granted such a large alimony that it presently takes most of my earnings. My second wife kept her job, as we really need the money she brings in to get along. However, the financial problems were considered before we married and they are presenting no difficulty.

We are both professional people with somewhat odd hours. The only time we could really spend together is Saturday afternoon, but, my wife always has other plans for that time. She has a family, and friends she made before I knew her. These always have precedence.

Though I never make a decision without consulting her, she does not extend the same courtesy to me. In other words, our marriage seems very one-sided to me. Perhaps I'm too easy-going.

ANSWER: Your wife apparently had a well-established pattern of living before she met you. You had, too, and the difficulty here is in blending the two.

MAKE TIME WITH YOU ATTRACTIVE

Since, according to you, she has to work, the central subject of the pattern is already fixed, and the smaller pieces automatically fall in place beside it. Friendships, family relationships, entertainment, make up these smaller parts.

The only way for you to change the picture is to offer something of irresistible charm that she didn't have before. How you can do this in one afternoon a week is quite a puzzler in itself. You might captivate the lady's attention for those few precious hours by making them so attractive she'll look forward to them.

You're married to a self-sufficient, independent woman. Time and patience will win her to a more co-operative state.

DEAR MISS DIX: I recently changed jobs, and left behind at the old place a girl for whom I had begun to have heart-murmurs. Should I take the liberty of calling her at the office and asking for a date?

ANSWER: That's one reason the telephone company is in business. Worrying about it won't win a date; a call might.

DEAR MISS DIX: Robin is a nice boy. I like him a lot, but the thing that worries me is the fact that he can't save. He's 23, I'm 22, and I feel we should make plans for our future. However, whenever a discussion of money comes up, he admits he can't keep a dollar. I know on the salary he makes I could budget as I am a thrifty person.

ANSWER: You two represent both extremes of the financial question. One too thrifty, one too extravagant. The twin were never meant to meet! You'll be unhappy at every cent spent, and Robin will be miserable with every one saved.

This could be one of the unhappiest marriages going. I advise you to give it up. I doubt if you could reform your friend.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a daughter living away from home who never writes me, or seems to care. I'd like to visit her. Should I write first?

ANSWER: I'll be darned if I'd let the little stinker bother me. You'll certainly get no satisfaction from the visit, nor will you ever be invited. In fact, if you do write, she'll probably tell you not to come. You'll hear from her soon enough when she needs you.

Ouachita Four-H Members Return For Short Course

Ouachita parish's 4-H Club delegates to the state short course competition at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, returned home Friday with several top honors.

Among the accomplishments chalked were first place rating for the meat identification team composed of Bette Sue Frost, Jimmy Shipp and Peggy Long; a blue ribbon in cherry pie baking for Sylvia Boudreaux; a blue ribbon for Beth Sanford in freezing competition; blue ribbons for the demonstration team of Elizabeth Heck and Polly Riser, and for Glenda Alice Owens in baking, and Carolyn Whitlock for food preparation.

Other honors were garnered by the parish's poultry team which placed sixth in the state, and the crops judging team which was rated in eighth place. The short course activities got under way Monday and wound up late Thursday.

Accompanying the 23 farm youngsters on the trip were Associate Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Audrey Dawson; Associate County Agent W. B. Aycock, Jr.; Assistant County Agent A. R. Mophett, and Mrs. Marvin Shipp, local club leader from Logtown.

CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM—Members of the Ouachita parish 4-H Club team placing first in the meat identification division at the annual state short course held this week at Baton Rouge are, from left, Bette Sue Frost, Jimmy Shipp and Peggy Long.

BLUE RIBBON WINNERS—Blue ribbons went to several 4-H Club delegates from Ouachita parish who competed in state short course contests this week at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge. In the front row, from left, are Sylvia Boudreaux who won in cherry pie making, and Beth Sanford, who was in the top group in freezing division. In the back row, from left, are Elizabeth Heck and Polly Riser, members of the blue ribbon winning demonstration team; Glenda Alice Owens, who took a similar honor in baking, and Carolyn Whitlock, whose food preparation work brought a blue ribbon.

South Bridge To Be Closed For Repairs Monday

The old traffic bridge on DeSiard street here will be closed to motor traffic at 7 a. m. Monday for a $143,384 repair project, J. H. Drake, district engineer for the state department of highways, said yesterday.

The period of the closure will not exceed three months, Drake said. Pedestrians may still use the bridge during the closure period since one pedestrian walk will remain open.

Two eight-hour shifts will work on the bridge in order to expedite the repair work, Drake pointed out.

The work, to be done by the Coastal Bridge Co. of Baton Rouge, will make the bridge into an all-steel span and improve the approach on the west end.

A city ordinance passed recently will ban parking on Louisville Avenue, the east end approach to the new traffic bridge, during peak traffic hours, and parking on other streets has already been banned due to the expected closure of the bridge.

The ordinance prohibits parking on Louisville from 7:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

$30 Million Asked To Insure Enough Salk Polio Shots

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The administration today asked Congress to appropriate 30 million dollars to assure "that every child and expectant mother has the opportunity" of being vaccinated against polio.

The money was requested by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at a Senate Appropriations Committee hearing. Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) promptly protested that the amount requested was so low that needy children would have to prove they couldn't afford to pay for the shots before they could receive them free.

He recalled that originally the administration asked for 28 million dollars to pay for free shots for children whose parents couldn't afford them. Then, he continued, the administration agreed that no children should be required to say that they lacked the means to pay for the shots.

Hill argued that the administration by adding only two million dollars to its first request was in effect asking that the "means test" remain a part of the vaccination program.

The Senator said "there is no escaping the fact that if you give them only 30 million dollars you are limiting the funds" to needy children.

Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) commented that unless a means test was eventually applied the government might be expected to provide free shots for everyone in the country when enough vaccine became available.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

After removing cleansing cream, pat the face with ice cubes wrapped in a thin cloth. This constricts the pores.

Don't Dry Out Face With Soap And Water

Women write to ask about whether or not they should use an astringent on their faces. Astringents have alcohol as a part of their formula. This is irritating to some skins.

Astringents should never be used on dry skins because the alcohol in them is drying. They may be helpful when used daily on an oily complexion.

Another question which comes over my desk quite often is, "Shall I use soap and water on my face? I have heard that a woman with a dry skin should cleanse her face with cleansing cream and never use soap and water. I have a dry skin but somehow I do not feel that my face is really clean unless I use soap and water on it."

If you have a normal skin you can use soap and water on it although I, myself, feel that even if you have a normal skin you would be wise to use a cleansing cream as you grow older since the natural oils in the skin decrease with age. The woman who has an oily skin should never use cream.

I think the woman who has a very dry skin is flirting with early aging if she uses soap and water on her face. Actually cleansing creams cleanse the skin just as effectively as soap and water if they are used correctly, and do not dry out the already dry skin like soap and water do.

Cleansing Cream Effective If you have a dry complexion and use a cleansing cream follow this routine: Put a light application of the cleansing cream on your face and neck. Massage it in gently. Remove the cream with tissues. Apply another coating of the cleansing cream to your face and neck, again massage gently. Allow this to remain for a few minutes. Remove with tissues. Dip a washcloth into hot water and use this to remove the rest of the oil or grease left by the cleansing cream. Afterward, pat the face with ice cubes wrapped in a thin cloth or dash cold water over the face and neck. This constricts the pores.

OLD WARRIOR STILL USED
CHICAGO, July 22—UP—The U.S.S. Silversides, a submarine which sank 29 Japanese ships in World War II, never goes anywhere any more but it still sees a lot of service for Uncle Sam. The sub, her propellers and batteries long removed, serves as a training ship for the naval reserve. It's tied up at Navy pier on Lake Michigan.

THING FLIES OVER
ATLANTA, July 22—UP—Dozens of residents agreed that a "thing" sailed over Atlanta Thursday night but no two descriptions of it matched. Mrs. David Farnsworth said it was light green, was glowing and revolting. Ed Gambrell said it seemed to explode into two equal pieces with tails. P. A. Booker said "it was about the size of a country washpot."

British Ships In China Trade Face Formosan Bombs

TAIPEI, Formosa, July 22 (AP)—Sources who should know said today the Chinese Nationalists are anxious to avoid incidents with the British but nevertheless might bomb ships flying the Union Jack rather than allow them to carry vitally needed material to Chinese Red ports opposite Formosa.

The sources refused to be identified. They are familiar with high policy decisions.

Use of air power to deter British ships from entering such ports as Fuchow is considered probable in the event of—and possibly before—any large-scale hostilities breaking out in the Formosa Strait.

Use of planes had apparently been considered because of the British threat to use the Royal Navy to protect British merchant ships trading with Red China.

The Nationalists are evidently convinced that, while Britain might use warships to protect British merchantmen, London would hesitate to order the Royal Air Force to afford similar protection.

The thinking here seems to be that this would, as one quarter put it, make Britain "too much an open ally of Mao Tse-tung," the Red Chinese leader.

The sources in question said the Nationalists did not want to present a challenging or provocative attitude toward the British, but only to protect what they consider to be their rights of self-preservation.

They displayed worry over the flow of goods to Fukien Province, where the Communist build-up could be translated into an attack on the offshore islands, and even on Formosa itself, if the Reds decided to take the risks involved.

Negro Held For Forgery, Burglary

A West Monroe Negro was being held in Ouachita parish jail last night on three counts of forgery and one burglary charge, Sheriff Bailey Grant said.

According to Grant, Jessie Bell, 36, 801 Coleman Ave., West Monroe, was arrested about 10:30 a.m. Friday in connection with the burglary of Coastal Asphalt Co., in an office near the Monroe Gravel Company works on Downing Pine road in West Monroe, just south of Highway 80.

$4,211.31 in payroll checks and $15 cash were taken from the office about 9 p.m. Thursday night, Sheriff Grant said.

The sheriff said that when Bell was arrested, seven of the 58 missing checks were on his person; two had been forged and cashed; and 49 had already been recovered by the sheriff's department in Bell's West Monroe room. One of the checks Bell had on him, Grant said, was forged by Bell, who was apparently preparing to cash it.

All the checks have been accounted for, Sheriff Grant said, including the two that had been cashed by Bell, in the amounts of $18 and $56.

Bell's arrest came about two hours after the sheriff's department was notified by officials of the asphalt company.

Giles Denies Any Connection With Fraudulent Deals

AUSTIN, July 22—UP—Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, testifying in his own defense, swore under oath Friday he didn't make a dime from the sale of the Rose-now ranch, a $353,000 deal the state says was crooked.

The prosecution alleges that Giles, as the onetime boss of the $100 million Veterans Land Board, stole $6,800 involved in the sale to the state of the 10,000 acre Kinney county, Tex., property.

The former state official is also accused of aiding B. R. Sheffield, Brady land promoter and ex-business associate of Giles, in the theft of a like amount of money.

In a vehement answer that echoed across the courtroom, Giles answered, "I did not," when asked: "Did you receive directly or indirectly any sum of money—$500 or $8,000—from the sale of the Kinney county ranch?"

"Did you assist, aid or abet Sheffield in the theft of money from the state of Texas or anyone else?" defense attorney Clint Small asked.

"I did not," came the answer. Earlier, Giles specifically denied earlier testimony by a prosecution witness that he joined Sheffield in discussion of a potential $250,000 veterans land deal profit at a hotel room "highball party."

Stanley Stribling, a San Angelo mortgage loan dealer, told the jury Wednesday he was present with Sheffield and Giles in an Austin hotel on Aug. 25, 1953. There was drinking.

"One of them said if they made that trade, that would be all the trades they would need to make that year," Stribling said of the purported $250,000 proposal.

"I just wasn't there. I don't attend many highball parties. I saw Mr. Stribling once and I never saw him in a hotel," Giles said Friday.

Previously, Giles insisted that as members of the veterans Land Board Gov. Allan Shivers and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd shared equal responsibility with him in bossing the multi-million dollar agency.

Both previously said they had tossed to Giles responsibility for administering the sprawling, state-wide program.

"Do you know of any time that shifting of the responsibility from the governor and the attorney general to the land commissioner was discussed?" Giles was asked.

"It was never discussed in my presence—ever," he replied.

"Did you at any time conceal any action from the governor, the attorney general or any other interested party," the defense attorney asked.

"I definitely did not," Giles said. By testifying in his own defense, Giles opened the door to cross-examination by the prosecution and affords Travis County District Attorney Les Procter his first opportunity to verbally probe the central figure of the veterans land scandals.

Suspect Pleads Innocent To Car Transport Count
JAMESTOWN, N.Y., July 22—UP—Brasel Dail Carmichael, suspected killer of an elderly widow, pleaded innocent Friday to a charge of transporting a stolen car across a state line and was held for a hearing on Monday, July 25.

U. S. Commissioner E. Robert Bootley set Carmichael's bail at $10,000 and he was returned to the Mayville, N. Y., jail to await the hearing.

Police authorities in Dallas, Tex., believed Carmichael was the killer of Mrs. Mahala Winterbauer, 50, the widow of a Dallas policeman. Dallas detective Capt. Will Fritz said he hopes to return Carmichael to Dallas to stand trial for Mrs. Winterbauer's murder.

Crosses Burned
In Rio For Those
Denied Religion

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 22 (AP)—Thousands attending the 36th International Eucharistic Congress tonight paid special homage to millions of Roman Catholics in countries where church functions are restricted.

The homage was in the form of a via sacra for the "church of silence." Fourteen crosses erected before the rostrum in giant Congress Plaza were brilliantly spotlighted for the ceremony. In order, the 14 nations of the cross bore the names of Albania, East Germany, "Balkan States," Bulgaria, China, Croatia, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Russia, North Korea, Czechoslovakia, Ukraine and Viet Nam. A short speech and a prayer in the appropriate foreign language was given at each station.

As the ceremony began, he giant plaza floodlights were turned off, leaving the assemblage in darkness and the crosses alone lighted.

In front of each station Mgr. Vincent Briziga, auxiliary bishop to the metropolitan for the Lithuanians, prayed, and the assemblage joined in the responses.

Four vacant thrones of Roman Catholic Cardinals, Joseph Mindszenty of Communist Hungary, Alojzije Stepinac of Yugoslavia, Stefan

Wyszynski of Poland and Thomas Tien of Red China stood on the rostrum, filled with flowers.

A group of Argentines was loudly applauded at the second solemn session of the Congress last night when they placed flowers on the throne of another absent cardinal, Santiago Luis Copello of Argentina, whose church has been in conflict with the regime of President Juan Peron. Cardinal Copello is not attending. He has been ill and his ceremonial vestments were destroyed in the burning of his palace at Buenos Aires as the result of mob action.

Pope Pius XII will close the Congress with a radio address from Vatican City Sunday.

Senate Probers Tangle
In Talbott Row; Secret
Hearings Are Cancelled

WASHINGTON, July 22—UP—Senate investigators tangled in an angry political row Friday that led Sen. John L. McClellan to cancel plans for an immediate closed-door hearing on the business affairs of Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott.

Settled by Republican demands that he call a meeting to settle the Talbott affair once and for all, the normally soft-spoken Arkansas Democrat flared:

"I had intended to hold a meeting this afternoon. I now announce publicly that I won't do it. Period."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) and George H. Bender (R-Ore.) interrupted public hearing of the Senate Permanent investigating subcommittee to demand an immediate secret session to settle the Talbott case.

Presumably they meant the subcommittee should decide whether to accept Talbott's offer to quit his "special" partnership in Paul B. Mulligan & Co., New York engineering firm, if the senators feel that would help the Air Force and the Eisenhower administration.

McClellan, who succeeded Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) as subcommittee chairman last January, snapped that Mundt and Bender were trying to "pressure" and "needle" him into hasty action. He also accused them of "making a speech to the press."

McClellan said he was trying to handle the case as fast as possible and declared, "I've leaned over backward to be fair in this thing."

"If the purpose of (your) intentions is to embarrass the chair," snapped McClellan, "you can't do it. You, nor both of you combined, I don't intend to be needed into doing something hastily."

McClellan told newsmen later he has received "a communication" from Talbott. He refused to elaborate. He also refused to confirm a reporter's suggestion that it contained amplifications or changes in Talbott's testimony.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), former Air Force secretary in the Truman administration, sprang to McClellan's support. He said he had known Talbott for years, and added he never had seen a case handled more fairly than Talbott's.

The Air Force chief himself praised the subcommittee for its courtesy and consideration.

Talbott's offer to quit his Mulligan connection, which nets him around $50,000 a year, was made Thursday at a public hearing. The meeting was called hastily on Talbott's demand following disclosure the group has obtained copies of letters purporting to show Talbott sought to boost business of Mulligan from his Air Force office.

Dietrich Tosses 3-Hitter; Coleman Pitches 1-Hitter

Twin Cities pitching was more than the Hot Springs Bathers could master last night as Gerald Coleman hurled a one-hitter and Bill Dietrich Jr. tossed a three-hitter as the Sports swept a double header from the Spas, 1 to 0 and 2 to 0, for their fifth and sixth consecutive victories.

After Dietrich had put the Bathers away in the opener, Coleman came in to handcuff the invading batters in the nightcap, and Coleman may have had a no-hitter except for a bunt beaten out by Bill Brashear, Hot Springs outfielder, in the fourth inning. Brashear was also the most troublesome for Dietrich, getting two of the three hits in the first game.

Jack Kenny, Hot Springs' tosser in the first, allowed only five hits, one of them a game-winning double by Bob Maness, and Rod Tangeman, the victim in the second, tossed a neat three-hitter, but each left counted in the Twin Cities scoring.

Tonight the Sports open a two-game series at Vicksburg. Bob Maness' double that scored Rod Kanehl from second base gave the Sports the decision in the first game as Bill Dietrich showed some of his best form of the season in holding the Bathers to three singles. Dietrich, who usually experiences control trouble, walked only two and otherwise was in full charge of the game.

Kanehl, who had stolen second base, was aboard after forcing Dietrich, who had walked, when Maness delivered his game-winning smash into left center field. Bill Anderson barely got to Maness' poke in time to tag it with the tip of his glove but he couldn't get enough to make the catch.

Jack Kenny pitched the opener for the Spas, holding the Sports to five hits, two of them by Maness.

Umpire Schuster, calling balls and strikes in the opener, was felled when hit by a foul off the bat of the Bathers Al Janocha in the second inning. The ball caught Schuster in the throat and he fell face down to the dirt. However, he escaped serious injury, was revived moments later and continued to work.

Roy Mantle tripled and scored on Ed Rippl's single to open the scoring for the Sports in the first inning of the second game.

The Sports made it 2-0 in the third inning when, with two out, Richie Windle was safe on Al Delle Vella's overthrow to first. Windle stole second and raced on to third on John Janocha's overthrow at second. Bob Hantak singled the run across.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22 (AP)—

Red Schoendienst batted in three runs with a bases-loaded single and a sacrifice fly as the St. Louis

Cardinals trounced Philadelphia 8-

1 tonight in the second game of a two-night twin bill, ending the Phillies' win streak at 11 games. The Phillies took the first game 6-3 with a six-run rally in the fifth inning, topped by Bobby Morgan's three-run homer.

The Phillies had tied the season's mark for consecutive wins, equaling the run by Brooklyn earlier this summer but the Cards' bats and the pitching of Harvey Haddix brought an end to the streak in the nightcap.

St. Louis got away to a three-run lead in the third inning of the second game. Alex Grammas and

Ken Boyer singled. Wally Moon's

double brought in one run and

Schoendienst' single—after Stan

Musial walked to load the bases—

scored two more.

The Cards got another run in the fourth as Bill Sarni walked.

Haddix forced him at second and

Boyer doubled. Musial's triple and Schoendienst' long fly scored a run in the fifth. In the sixth, Boyer singled, stole second and came home on Moon's single. A walk to Schoendienst and back-to-back

singles by Rip Repulski and Sarno accounted for the seventh. St.

Louis run in the seventh. A Schoen-dienst double and a Sarni single in the ninth made it 8-1.

The Phils finally broke out of the horsecollar in the seventh as

Gus Niarhos singled and Richie

Asburn doubled.

Haddix scattered seven Philadelphia hits in picking up his seventh win against nine losses.

Tommy Bolt Scores PGA Victory Over Sam Snead

Field Reduced To 16 Players After 'Sudden Deaths'

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

DETROIT, July 22 (AP)—Johnny Palmer, who's supposed to be too nice a guy to win in tough golf competition, and Tommy Bolt, who can be tough as a Billy goat out on the links, scored a pair of notable victories in the second round of the P. G. A. championship today as two "sudden death" rounds reduced the field to 16 players.

Palmer, a finalist in the 1949 P. G. A. championship but more often a first round victim, ousted defending champion Chick Harbert 1-up. Many match play duels, 3 and 2, then joyfully remarked he "felt sorry" for Sam.

This match, a replay of their heated 39-hole quarter-final duel at St. Paul last year, drew the bulk of a crowd of about 3,000 that piled into the Meadowbrook Course to see some torrid golf on a steamy day.

But compared to last year's match, when Bolt threatened to quit in the middle, it was an anticlimax. Bolt was ahead all the way as Snead's erratic putter, which had worked well during two days of qualifying, acted up again.

As a result of today's two 18-hole rounds—the short matches the pros hate—the tournament was left without a single ex-champion as it moved into the 36-hole stage beginning tomorrow.

Not only did Harbert and Snead go out, but Walter Burkemo, 1953 champion and runner-up to Harbert last year, was beaten in the first round by Cary Middlecoff, the winning—est player of the pro golf season, and older ex-champion Gene Sarazen and Vic Ghezzi went out in the second.

Don Fairfield, a 36-year-old pro from Casey, Ill., who has been a golf professional half his life but is playing in his first P. G. A. championship, knickered out Ghezzi on the 23rd hole to end the match in overtime. The 53-year-old Sarazen, too tired to play a second good match on a blazing hot day, yielded 4 and 3 to 31-year-old Shelley Mayfield, a Texan who plays out of Westbury, N. Y. Sarazen had won his first match by a big 6 and 4 margin from chubby Clarence Doser of Rockville, Md.

The defeats of Harbert and Burkemo also left Detroit fans without a hometown pride to provide rooting interest. The crowds obviously were in favor of Chick and Wally, but that didn't influence their opponents.

The big winners were two players whose putters worked almost to perfection on a course where good putting counts heavily. The 7,700-yard Meadowbrook Course doesn't present any problems for the pros, but the putting surfaces are tricky and hard to read and that's where most matches are decided.

Bolt was dropping them in from as far as 18 feet from the cup, but he clinched the match by holing out a shot from a bunker for a birdie on the 18th hole. The steady-going, unimpeachable Palmer, playing his iron's wheels, holed a bundle of eight and ten footers.

Bolt, jubilant after his victory, chortled: "Two out of two—that's a pretty good batting average. I'm the only guy in the field who could beat him. And it's a good thing, too. Otherwise he would have gone all the way. I don't choke against him."

The match just about proved his point. Tommy went out in 32, three under par to lead one up at the turn. He birdied the second and seventh holes with putts of 12 and 15 feet. Snead rolled in a 35-footer to win the sixth.

Turning for home Bolt went hit two up at the 10th, where Sammy hit into two bunkers and made it three with an 18-foot putt at the 14th. He let Snead off the hook by three-putting the 15th green, then finished him off with a birdie.

Palmer, two up over Harbert at the turn with an outgoing 33, three-putted the 12th hole for a six and suffered another pang of disappointment when he canned an 18 footer only to have Chick do the same thing. But he held on to win.

Middlecoff, winner of the Masters and Western titles this year and the season's top money winner, followed up his 2 and 1 victory over Burkemo by whipping Bill Nally of Reno, Nev., 3 and 2.

Bolt's third-round opponent tomorrow will be Jack Fleck, the Davenport, Ia., public course pro who amazed the golf world by beating Ben Hogan in a playoff for the open title. Fleck didn't draw much of the crowd today as he turned back Joe Zarhardt of Greensboro, N. C., 4 and 2, and Jay Hebert, of Woodmere, N. Y., who is touted by his fellow pros as a great player, 2 and 1.

Still he played three under par for 33 holes in two matches. The surviving 16 also included 1954 open champion Ed Furgol, who had to win 20-hole matches to reach the third round, 1947 open champion and Lew Worsham and Middlecoff, the 1949 open titleholder. Furgol knocked out Jim Gaunt of Oklahoma City on the 20th in the morning, then took Gus Salerno of Mamaroneck, N. Y., into camp in the same hole this afternoon after holing a chip shot from off the 18th green to keep the match alive.

There were only three who could be called unknowns. They were Fairfield, Brien, Charter, a 28-year-old from Janesville, Wis., who

'55-'56 Basic Hunting Regulations Announced

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Basic hunting regulations for rails, gallinules, woodcock, mourning and white-winged doves and banded-tailed pigeons for the 1955-56 season were announced today by the Secretary of Interior McKay.

The states will be permitted to fix their hunting seasons within the period beginning Sept. 1 and ending Jan. 10 for all those species except woodcock, with the season for woodcock to fall between Oct. 1 and Jan. 20.

The specific season dates set for the individual states will be published later.

Regulations for shooting ducks, geese, coots and Wilson's snipe in Alaska were also announced, with the season to begin Sept. 1.

McKay said the detailed regulations for hunting ducks, geese and other migratory waterfowl and coots in the continental United States will be issued during the latter part of August.

He described the changes in the basic regulations announced today as minor and summarized them as follows:

Rails and gallinules—The season for the Atlantic Flyway is shortened from 70 to 60 days and the bag limit, except for Sora, is reduced from 15 daily and 30 in possession to 10 daily and 20 in possession.

"These reductions have been made in recognition of reports from the state game departments of New Jersey and Virginia that substantial losses of clapper rail nests resulted from unusually high tides in marsh areas of those states during May and June," the announcement said.

States in the Atlantic Flyway are Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Puerto Rico.

A season of 60 days and a bag and possession limit of 15 on rails (other than Sora) and gallinules will be in effect for the states in the other three flyways, the same as last year.

All four flyways will again have a limit of 25 Sora daily and in possession.

Woodcock—an over all season framework lengthened by 10 days will permit each state to select a season of 40 consecutive days between Oct. 1 and Jan. 20. The daily bag and possession limits will remain unchanged at 4 and 8 respectively.

Mourning doves—within the framework of Sept. 1 to Jan. 10, states east of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas will again have a daily bag and possession limit of eight birds and their game departments will be permitted to select seasons consisting of one of the following alternatives: (1) 25 consecutive full days; (2) two split seasons aggregating 35 full days; (3) 45 consecutive half-days; or (4) two split seasons aggregating 45 half-days.

The announcement said this proposal represents a lengthening of the season in those states by five full days if the first or second alternative is chosen, or five half-days if either of the other is selected.

For all other states, last year's daily bag and possession limit of 10 and a season of 45 full days is provided with privilege of splitting the season without a penalty. This generally represents a lengthening of the season by five days.

White-winged doves—In Texas, the closed season will remain in effect. The seasons in Arizona and in Imperial and Riverside counties in California will conform with the mourning dove seasons in those states. In Arizona, the daily bag and possession limit on mourning doves and white-winged doves is increased from 10 to 15, of which not more than 10 may be mourning doves.

Alaska—Waterfowl, coots and Wilson's snipe instead of zoning by judicial districts the regulations provide a general season on waterfowl and coots for the entire territory extending from Sept. 1 to Nov. 22, an overall increase of eight days over last year's season. Bag and possession limits on waterfowl and coots will remain unchanged. Zoning for Wilson's snipe will also be eliminated but the season is lengthened by 15 days, beginning on Sept. 1 daily bag and possession limits on this species will remain at eight.

The announcement said the regulations are unchanged from last year for band-tailed pigeons in the states in which their shooting is permitted and that there also are no changes in the regulations for shooting of scoter, elder and old-squaw ducks in the New England area.

Orioles' Wilson Hurls 2-Hitter At Indians; Loses, 2-0

CLEVELAND, July 22 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, although held to only four hits by Jim Wilson, defeated the Baltimore Orioles 2-0 tonight. Al Smith's first inning homer was the only hit of Wilson until the seventh when two singles and a sacrifice fly scored the second Cleveland run.

Cleveland's rookie southpaw, Herb Score, shuttled the Orioles on seven hits until he was relieved in the eighth inning after a single hit by Philley struck his left arm. After Score had pitched two balls to the next batter, Gus Triandos, manager Al Lopez sent in right hander Ray Narleski. Narleski walked Triandos, but got pinch hitter Dave Pope to ground into a forceout.

Score, who won his ninth game against eight losses, was in serious trouble only in the sixth inning. With one out the Orioles loaded the bases on successive singles by Jim Dyck, Philley and Triandos. But Hank Majeski fielded to short right, the runners holding, and Hal Smith fled to center to end the inning.

Wilson had allowed only two walks and Smith's home run until the seventh, when Al Rosen led off with a single. Rosen went to third on Ferris Fahm's single, and scored on Hank Folles' fly.

The Fishing Report

TWO BIG BASS

R. L. Alford, West Monroe, landed a seven-pound bass in Cheniere lake Wednesday evening, and it was the second such bass reported produced in this vicinity this season. Cheniere also gave up the other, also a seven-pounder, taken by T. E. Chaney, 911 South Sixth street, Monroe, on the Fourth of July.

Alford made his catch with a "worked over" Hell Diver that had spinners welded to the weed guards, plus an extra spinner welded in front. The Alford trophy was taken in deep water among the Tupelo gum trees just out from Holcomb's boat landing. He said the water was so deep "we couldn't touch bottom with our ream poles." Bream fishing netted the Alford's, including Clarence, "six or seven," but they forgot how many once the big bass hit.

Chaney's July 4 seven-pounder was taken on a Shakespear Silver Darter in the deep open Tupelo sloughs out from Brantley's boat dock. The following Saturday he went back to take a six-pounder, and last Saturday Chaney took out four smaller bass.

Australia Davis Cup Netters Beat Brazilian Team

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 22 (AP)—Australia's strong young men, Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, had to turn on against surprising Brazilian savvy, today but survived to give the Aussies a 2-0 lead in American Zone Davis Cup semifinals.

Hoad especially had his hands full as he battled from behind to take the measure of powerful Bob Falkenburg, 3-6, 8-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Rosewall took Jose Aguiar, 7-5, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3, but only after stopping the comeback bid by the game little swinger from south of the border.

Today's results leave Australia in firm command, in position to wrap up the tie with its ace team of Hoad and Rex Hartwig in tomorrow's doubles.

Official announcement of the doubles lineup probably will be delayed until shortly before match time at 2 p.m. CDT, but Brazil was believed to have showed the Aussies enough singles strength to make them employ their top weapons.

Falkenburg, captain of the Brazilian team, said he probably will team up with Ronald Moreira.

Two more singles matches are carded for Sunday.

Considerable concern was stirred up in the Aussie ranks when Falkenburg started manhandling their pride Hoad in today's second match.

The United States-born Falkenburg whistled services past the 20-year-old Aussie and had him in such a state of disgust at one time that odds swung strongly toward an upset.

Hoad had the comeback power and the stamina, however, and had Falkenburg swinging on the net at the finish.

The Augero-Rosewall match was a masterpiece of brilliant placements and masterful returns, with both contestants sharing in the plaudits of a perspiring crowd of 2,000 tennis patrons.

Aguiar, extending Rosewall much more than had been expected, was a murderous retriever of the trick Australian placements, some of them bordering on the uncanny.

Rosewall used a deceptive drop shot to great advantage, both as a point-getter and in keeping Aguiar off balance. The shot always settled past over the net with hardly enough bounce to make it a reasonable return.

The game Augero provided considerable surprise as he took the first two games of the first set. Thereafter, he made Rosewall fight for every point except for a lapse that on with ease as Aguiar fell badly off form. He seemed rattled by a double fault that cost him the first set.

Aguiar regained his form in the third set and took it with a sterling display of placements and returns. Rosewall seemed to tire there but he came back from a 10-minute recess refreshed and ready for the challenge.

The deciding set, taken by Rosewall at 6-3, provided the best tennis of the match, with both contestants sharing in lustrous cheers.

Moore Picks Site In Massachusetts For Title Training

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., July 22 (AP)—Archie Moore today selected North Adams as the site for the training camp where he'll prepare for the biggest fight of his 19-year career—a Sept. 22 title date with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Moore, 39-year-old light heavyweight titlist, and his camp crew will return Aug. 1 to start his training program.

Six years ago, Moore, the active, globetrotting puncher, knocked out Esler Greenwood in the second round of his 102nd professional bout as the 10th ranked light heavyweight contender at the Hoosac Valley Arena here.

City officials and crowds of autograph-seekers welcomed him today.

"This is it all right," Moore said in looking over the facilities of Camp Greenwood, a mountain-situated boy's camp five miles from the city.

Both climate and physical plant are well-suited to his training, according to Moore. He said the area's hot days and cool nights are ideal, while the hilly terrain is "just what I wanted" for roadwork.

Of 17 locations—among them Atlantic City, N. J., the Poconos of Pennsylvania, and Brattleboro, Vt.—Moore chose this spot—138 miles from Boston and 168 from New York in the Berkshires.

Marciano will train some 70 miles away at Grossinger's, N. Y. Three sparring partners, manager Charley Johnston, a trainer, handlers, cooks, maintenance men and business advisers will be with Moore at the camp.

5 CONVENIENT LOTS TAG'S, INC. 5 CONVENIENT LOTS ATTENTION! LOOK! READ!

We are today buying some cars CHEAPER than in the past. The strike threat is over and cars are more plentiful therefore—we are able to do better buying. We will gladly pass the savings on to our customers. Our 90 DAYS OR 4,000 MILES GUARANTEE is as good as any dealer's guarantee in Louisiana.

Our cars are serviced and inspected by men who have had years and years of experience in their line of work. We have in stock 59 unlicensed CHEVROLETS, FORDS, PLYMOUTHs, OLDSMOBILEs, BUICKs and G. M. C. PICK-UPS. If we don't have the color or style you want check with any of our 5 lot managers—it may be on our next convoy. Usual terms $295 DOWN—UP TO 30 MONTHS ON BALANCE. Pay us a visit—you will be glad you did. Buy from the lot manager of your choice.

Peach Queen To Be Crowned In Ruston Tonight

RUSTON, July 22 (Special) — Despite a severe cold spell that killed the 1955 peach crop this spring the annual peach festival got underway here today.

Saturday is the big day of the annual event and 15 young ladies will compete for the title of Queen Dixie Gem No. Five. Also set for Saturday at 2 p.m. is a large festival parade through the downtown section of Ruston. Prizes will be awarded for the best peach orchard.

Friday the fifth district garden clubs presented a flower show and two well known musical organizations were presented at La. Tech at 8 p.m.

Candidates for the title of queen are Sharon Gale Wesson, Janet McLane, Cella Colvin, Lee Stegall, Patsy Ann Taylor, Carol Ann Neely, Sharon Horne, Carolyn Marler, Ruth Knotts, Jane Fuller, Ann Mathews, Betty Lynn Anders, Janet Gloris Robinson, Virginia Ann Crowley and Jane Baker.

Contestants in the princess peach contest are Melinda Thigpen, Karen Lynn Patterson, Carolyn Carver, Janet Lillian Post, Gayle Holland, Barbara Holladay, Cindy Milam, Donna Kimbell, Martha Rebecca McKneely, Paula Heard and Karen Marie Harms.

Visiting queens slated to be present are Elizabeth Carter, Winnfield, forestry queen; Sally Ware, Shreveport, queen of north Louisiana Delta festival; Grace Delcambre, Abbeville, queen of the Yambilee; Sherry Posey, Blenville, Miss Holiday in Dixie; Cindy Gardner, Lafayette, queen of the rice festival; Janet Kerne, Thibodaux, queen of the sugar festival.

Services Saturday For J. R. Crawley

EPPS, July 22 (Special)—Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. for J. R. Crawley, about 70, of Darnelle, who was found dead in bed at his home here early Friday.

A physician attributed Crawley's death to a heart attack. Services will be held in the Epps Baptist Church and interment, under the direction of Catron-Gay Funeral Home, will be in the Epps cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maggie Crawley, of Darnelle; seven daughters, Letha Crawley, of Darnelle, Mrs. J. T. Vinson, Mrs. Max Starnes and Mrs. D. E. Howard, all of Alexandria, Mrs. Ruth Moody and Mrs. S. H. Terry, both of Monroe, Mrs. George Thompson, of Kema, La., and Mrs. D. E. Howard, of Alabama; one brother, D. L. Crawley, of South

New Officers Installed By Rotary Club

SICILY ISLAND, July 22 (Special)—The Sicily Island Rotary Club will be lead next year by Bruce Edmonds, who was recently installed as president. Other officers elected for the next year include A. L. Brooks, vice-president; C. E. Enright, secretary; Marvin Nolen, Jr., treasurer and B. K. Miller and Ralph Turner, directors.

President Edmonds appointed chairmen of the four major committees, including A. S. Krause, club service; O. G. Wynn, vocational service; H. C. Peck, community service and Ralph Turner, international service.
